Five Sons, Four Killed.
The President's Fire-cracker.
The Big Bonus IF.
The Theater Tax.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

Copyright, 1932, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

PRESIDENT DOUMER, much honored, will lie in the Pantheon near Sadi Carnot, only other President of the French republic murdered during his term of office.

This republic, has, in its records, the murder of three Presidents in office, but this is a much older republic, with many Presidents in its history.

Doumer has gone beyond the reach of bullets, worries and ingratitude. His unhappy wife is left to mourn the wreck of her family. Every mother in the world will sympathize with her. When the big war started she had five sons and a good husband. The war killed four of her sons, and now her husband is gone.

This country, happily, has no idea of that war's realities.

The President sent a message "on the state of the nation" to congress, saying plainly that conditions are alarming and that congressmen, playing politics, are responsible. That was followed by another statement, more specific and highly annoying to the senators and representatives, that are busy sacrificing the public interest to their own re-election.

If the President had thrown into house and senate as many lighted packs of giant firecrackers as there are senators and representatives, he would have created no greater sensation.

There are even signs of a desire to do something regardless of home politics and the precious $10,000-a-year salary.

THE HOUSE BODY will meet again to reconsider the soldiers' bonus, and unload the blame for its defeat on the senate.

High finance, "sound banking," conservative opinion are all against the bonus, but are not these statements true? The government rightly or wrongly, has agreed to pay and must pay the money sooner or later with interest.

If it paid now the government would save eighty million dollars a year with interest on two billions.

No need to issue interest-bearing bonds. The government could print the money and pay it out. If we are not good for that trifling sum, after nationally lending ten billions to Europe that we shall not get back and lending tens of billions privately, of which much will be lost, we must be at a low ebb, and two billions more or less would make no difference. The soldiers would spend the two thousand millions immediately. Some money would clear off debts, helping business, the rest, more than a billion and a half, would be spent in all the stores in America, starting factories, paying workers, reviving the automobile and other industries.

There is no other way of stimulating immediate buying and cheerfulness, all over the United States.

Dumping more hundreds of millions into banks and other corporations will not help. That is like pumping water into a lake, when you want to irrigate the soil. It never reaches the soil. Money put in banks stays there or goes "to the street, to facilitate stock gambling."

PERHAPS CONGRESS, having been slapped on the wrist by the President, and slapped heavily, will take up the sales tax again, and balance the budget "without tears."

You know that there is a government sales tax on tobacco. It

Edward Mullen Drowns at Dayton

WAR VETERAN LOSES LIFE AT SOLDIERS' HOME

Body to be Brought Here; Funeral Wednesday.

38 YEARS OLD

Served in Artillery; Widow, Three Tots Survive.

Edward B. Mullen, 38, World war veteran, was drowned while swimming at the Soldiers' and Sailors' home in Dayton Sunday morning. He had been at the home five months.

Mullen served 18 months with the 11th Field Artillery in France, where he was gassed. His widow, Mrs. Emily Mullen, and three children, John, Mary and Robert, live at Third and Jefferson streets. He also leaves four brothers, John of Clarksburg, W. Va., Peter of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Arch and Stephen of East Liverpool and a sister, Mrs. Belle Worshnop of Philadelphia, Pa.

The body will arrive here today, where it will be taken to the Sturgis Funeral home. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon in charge of Rev. R. K. Caulk, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church.

WOODS IS FINED ON RUM CHARGE

Street Man Assessed $300 ... Police Seize Liquor, Beer in Home Saturday.

Charles Woods of 1274 Erie street, East End, was fined $300 and costs Sunday when arraigned before Municipal Judge Harry Brokaw on a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. He was committed to the county jail at Lisbon in default of payment.

Patrolman James Haley, George Kidder and Thomas Russell, who arrested Woods in his home Saturday at 2:30 p. m., said they found 150 quarts, 100 pints and 27 gallons of beer in the house, in addition to a quantity of empty bottles and crocks.

Albert Donahue and Russell Bachus, near Wellsville, were fined $50 and costs each Saturday afternoon, when they pleaded guilty to charges of stealing gasoline. They were committed to the county jail. Donahue was also fined $25 and costs on a charge of breaking glass on the street. They were arrested Saturday at 12:30 a. m. in the River road by Patrolman Robert Borger.

SALINEVILLE HOME BURNED

Frank Lafferty Hurt; Lisbon Barn Destroyed.

A five-room frame country home near Salineville, owned by Frank Lafferty, farmer, was destroyed by fire which followed an oil stove explosion in the kitchen Sunday at 5 a. m. Lafferty, who was seriously burned about the hands and feet fighting the blaze, said the loss would reach $6,000.

Miss Minnie Madison, Lafferty's housekeeper, was in the barn when the explosion occurred. Lafferty was burned while attempting to fight the flames before Salineville volunteer firemen arrived.

The firemen saved a piano, davenport, one chair and a desk containing valuable papers. Lafferty said the loss was partially covered by insurance.

A feeding barn, a mile east of Lisbon on the Elkton road, owned by J. Burt Lyder, shipper of live stock, was damaged by fire at 9:30 p. m. Sunday. The blaze, which was believed to have been started by tramps, caused a loss estimated at $1,500. Hay, corn and stray, stored in the barn, were destroyed.

The Lisbon fire department answered the alarm.

LABOR WARNS REVOLT DANGER

Edward F. McGrady Tells Senate Committee Action on Unemployment Relief Necessary.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Edward F. McGrady, speaking for the American Federation of Labor, warned a senate committee today there is danger of revolt unless the federal government takes action to relieve unemployment.

SEEKS FRENCH POST

Latest reports from Paris indicate that Albert Lebrun (above), president of the senate, may be elected President of the French republic to fill the vacancy created by the assassination of President Paul Doumer. Painleve, former premier, also entered the race today. The election is to be held at Versailles Tuesday.

Thousands of partisans filed by the Elysee palace to pay tribute to the dead president. After lying in state until Thursday the body will be taken to Notre Dame cathedral for funeral services and then placed in the family vault.

WOMAN FOUND SLAIN NEAR MILLERSBURG

Victim's Head Crushed; Blood on Wrecked Auto.

By The Associated Press.

MILLERSBURG, O., May 9. — The nude body of a woman found in a small stream two miles southeast of here today was tentatively identified as Mrs. Gertrude Meeker, about 30 years of age, of Creston, Wayne county, Ohio.

The identification was based, county officials said, on letters found in a woman's purse and from reports in Wayne county that Mrs. Meeker disappeared from her home last night.

The nude woman's head had been crushed apparently in a struggle along a lonely road about 200 feet from the stream.

The body, police said, showed evidence of having been dragged across a field to the creek.

An automobile, with a blood-stained running board, was wrecked against a tree about a mile from the body.

Officials expressed a belief the woman had been brought to her death scene in the machine.

Holmes county authorities said the license on the automobile was issued to Herbert Meeker of Creston, who at 8 a. m. today reported to the Wayne county sheriff that his wife was missing, his automobile stolen and about $8 in money taken from his home.

$175 COLLECTED FOR PLAYGROUND

Falling short of the $300 aim in the Playground Day campaign here Saturday, the City Federation of Women's clubs will seek to collect approximately $125 by personal subscription to maintain the recreation lot at Second and Washington street this summer.

The playground will open during the latter part of June and operate as long as the funds hold out. A fund of approximately $500 would be sufficient to maintain the recreation center for a period of about two months.

The sale of red feathers on the streets Saturday netted approximately $175, Mrs. H. M. Laycock, chairman, reported today. The first prize of $3 went to Miss Lillian Sosnow, second prize of $2 to Miss Dorothy Watkin. Pairs of theater passes, donated by the managements of the Ceramic and State theaters, were awarded Misses Louise Wildblood, Betty Jane Crawford, Jane Gipner and Nancy Huston.

NEW AUTO TAX IS PROTESTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—A sharp protest against the new revenue bill's taxes on automobiles, trucks, parts, accessories and rubber was filed with the senate finance committee today in telegrams from the leaders in the automotive industry.

MERCY URGED FOR KNISELY IN WIFE DEATH

Former Chester Man Found Guilty of Murder.

LIFE TERM SEEN

New Trial Motion to Be Filed at Warren.

Arch F. Knisely, 43, formerly of Chester, today faced a life sentence in Ohio penitentiary without hope of parole for the murder of his wife, Harriet, 42, in a downtown office building at Warren Jan. 13.

A jury of ten men and two women, after three hours' deliberation reported at 5 p. m. Saturday, with a verdict of guilty of first degree murder, adding a recommendation of mercy. Sentence was reserved by Trumbull County Common Pleas Judge W. M. Carter to allow a motion for a new trial probably Tuesday or Wednesday.

Knisely sat in the court room with his hands folded in his lap and heard Mrs. Marion Kelly, deputy clerk, read the verdict. He did not change expression. Two minutes later he walked out of the court room with a jaunty step and smiled wanly at a deputy sheriff, who took him back to jail.

Showed Resentment.

Knisely admitted that he preferred a penitentiary sentence to a finding of insanity and commitment to Lima State Hospital for the Insane. In his trial he occasionally showed resentment at classification as insane.

Since the January day when he hurried downtown ahead of his wife as she was going to her job in an attorney's office, hid in a bank building, shot her through the forehead and bent over her to say "You've done enough to me," Knisely has had little to say about the murder.

Relatives and friends have declared that for four years he has been a different man, changing

Sheriff, 11 Deputies Halt 150 Strikers on Salineville Visit

Motorcade is Forced to Leave County After Moving on Columbia Coal Mine Today.

Sheriff W. J. Barlow and 11 deputies thwarted the attempt of 150 strike sympathizers from Belmont, Harrison and Jefferson counties to move on the Columbia Coal and Clay mine in Salineville at 5:30 a. m. today.

The sympathizers, mostly from Bergholz and Amsterdam, arrived in automobiles and proceeded to the Columbia mine where they were met by Barlow and his deputies, who had been sworn in earlier at Lisbon and Wellsville. When Barlow ordered the miners to leave, they did so without any trouble.

The motorcade started toward the Sterling mine in the Carrollton road, but was again stopped by the authorities and escorted out of Columbiana county via the Monroeville road.

This was the second visit made by the sympathizers to Salineville. Two years ago a delegation from Bergholz visited the Sterling mine and then held a mass meeting in Salineville.

TROUBLE AVERTED.

Deputy Sheriffs' Disperse 300 Men After Knife Attack.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., May 9.—A fresh outbreak of trouble in the coal mine strike area here was narrowly averted yesterday when deputy sheriffs dispersed 300 men milling around a jail where one miner was held for a knife attack on another.

The wounded man, John Captor, 20, was taken to a Martin's Ferry hospital with a serious abdominal wound.

Captor was stabbed, allegedly by John Hinzey, 45, during an argument about mining conditions while attending a demonstration, at Glen Robbins, near here. Hinzey fled, pursued by several dozen men, but surrendered to a deputy sheriff at the Y and O Coal Co.

The deputy hustled Hinzey to jail here where he was charged with felonious assault. Hinzey claimed, however, that Captor knocked him down and that he drew his knife in self-defense.

"Father of Trusts" Reported Missing

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 9. — Charles R. Flint, 83, familarily known as "the father of trusts" because of his wide activities in organizing corporations, was sought by police here today after his wife reported him missing from their quarters at the Shoreham hotel.

Flint disapearred about noon yesterday, his wife said. Police, in addition to instituting a general search for him here, requested New York officials to aid. He has extensive business interests there.

BARN FIRED BY LIGHTNING

$5,000 Damage Near Chester; Storm Hits Lights.

A large barn on the Fred F. Steadman farm in state route No. 2, near Chester, was destroyed by fire at a loss of $5,000 after being struck by lightning, approximately 75 homes in East Liverpool were thrown into darkness when transformers of the Ohio Power company were damaged, and about 25 local telephones were put of order, during an electrical storm which swept the East Liverpool district Sunday at 7 p. m.

Farm implements, stored in the Steadman barn, were also lost in the blaze. Two horses were rescued by Steadman.

Fuses in Ohio Power company transformers in Glenmoor, Maplewood and Shadyside avenue were blown out when struck by lightning. Superintendent E. C. Jennison said. Homes in these districts were without lights for a short period.

Manager H. Y. Elliott of the Ohio Bell Telephone company said that the telephones were thrown out of order when the wires were damaged.

J. W. Moore Revises Estimate of County Primary Balloting

"Increased Interest Over Week-end, Combined With Fact That 56 Candidates — 42 Republicans and 14 Democrats Seek Places—Will Boost Count," Vote Board Clerk Says on Fight Eve.

SEVEN PRESIDENTIAL ASPIRANTS ARE INVOLVED IN OHIO RACES

Brown, Cooper, Ingalls and Beatty Await Tabulating in G. O. P. Contest for Governor, While Governor White is Expected To Win Renomination on Democratic Ticket Tuesday.

Columbiana county election officials today forecast a poll of 17,000 to 18,000 in Tuesday's presidential preference, state, district and county primary balloting.

Basing his figures on increased interest over the week-end, together with the fact that 56 candidates—42 Republicans and 14 Democrats—are in the fight for 11 county ticket places, Election Board Clerk J. M. Moore at noon said he expected a poll "between 17,000 and 18,000, of which the Democrats would cast 1,500.

"The fights for county ticket places have increased interest in the balloting, and I believe 17,000 or 18,000 voters will go to polls," Moore declared.

About 35,000 electors are qualified to vote in the 110 precincts of the county.

Warning Given Precinct Judges.

Election officials reiterated their warning to precinct judges regarding the law against loitering in or near the polls on primary day. "Persons other than election aids, except duly qualified challengers and inspectors, are not permitted in the voting places during the balloting or tabulating," Moore said. "Precinct officials have been instructed regarding the law which will be enforced."

The election board instructions call for a speedy count and prompt report to zonemen Tuesday night. The state and district ticket will be counted first, the county ticket second, and then the presidential preference, national and state convention delegates and alternates.

East Liverpool and Wellsville district precinct supplies will be distributed at 7:30 tonight at the vote board's offices in the two cities.

You Can't Marry

by Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: A late evening call from her eccentric employer, Gratton Matching, takes Georgie Revell away from a dinner party with her cousin Jenny, Garth Aveney, and Ryder Vale, but her interest in her work keeps her from minding the interruption. She is so fascinated by her job that she cannot decide to marry Eddie Townsend, whom she loves, because Matching will fire any woman working for him who marries. Georgie does not know that she is under suspicion of being the source of continued leakage of information about the business. Matching and his manager, Croze, separately have been trying to run down the guilty person. When Croze suggests Georgie as a possible suspect, to Matching, his employer retorts that he is attending to investigating her. Arriving at Matching's house, Georgie rings the bell in a special code, and the door is opened.

Chapter 5

YES OR NO?

THE footman greeted Georgie deferentially and went to pay the driver, while she took the steps of the main staircase two at a time. She did not slow down until she gained a bedroom at the back of the upper hall and was throwing her cloak on to the bed.

On the back of the door hung an overall of dark linen and this Georgie whisked over the gleaming apricot of her dress. The overall was made long but a gleam of velvet still showed round her ankles—that was, however, unavoidable. She changed her brocade shoes for dark leather and at the dressing-table wiped all make-up off her face and passed a comb through her hair. Then she swung out of the room and entered the one next to it.

This, as richly carpeted and curtained as the bedroom, was one of her many working-rooms. There was a desk with telephones, typewriter, and next to the typewriter a dictaphone transcribing machine. On the desk, just under the curved, green-shaded lamp, a cylinder of black and shiny wax awaited her. She slipped it on to the transcriber, pulled a pair of ear-phones over her head, poised her hands upon the keyboard of her typewriter and presently was typing at great speed while the cylinder, slowly turning on its roller, transmitted the faint voice of Gratton Matching into her ears.

Entirely concentrated, she typed, paused, listened, typed again. From the maddening indistinctness of the record she knew that the document she was typing was a highly confidential one. The Old Man almost grunted into his dictaphone when the matter was secret. He knew that, in the end, she would be able to make it out. Even if she could only hear an occasional snatch of words, her experience of him and his affairs, her quick-wittedness and that brilliant, half-telepathic intuition that rarely failed her, would manage the rest.

The task, though immensely exacting, was not lengthy. In less than half-an-hour, she took off the ear-phones and re-read what she had typed. Fixed into the surface of her desk was a bell, which she rang; three short whirrs. Then she got up and walked over to the hearth.

The door opened and a young brown giant of a man came in.

"Eddie!" she cried.

"Hullo, girl!"

He stood there, smiling at her, very light on his feet for all his huge bulk. His deep-set, slightly blood-shot eyes held that hunger for her that she adored because it so profoundly disturbed her. His leather helmet made his head smaller but his leather coat, flung open, added width to his already massive shoulders. The room vibrated faintly as he bore down upon her.

"No, Ed—not in office hours, dear boy!" She put the desk between them but her eyes hung upon him, glorying in his height that, tall as she was, overtopped her by some inches. "I wondered if you'd be here tonight. I suppose you're flying with that?" She touched the finished typescript.

"Daresay. My orders were just 'a packet.' Old Man's in a devil's mood tonight—dries me up when he yaps at me like that! Can't think how you stick him."

"I don't let him get on my mind." She smiled her brilliant, confident smile and Eddie Townsend smiled back at her. They understood each other well. Each felt in the other a reckless courage, an almost animal joy in effort and success.

"You don't let anything get on your mind, Georgie!"

"Well, do you?"

"Only you—and you're on it a darn sight too much. Spoiling my nerve, you are, and it's got to stop. I mean it, girl. . . . Look here, I reckoned on getting a word with you tonight. There's something I want to say."

She glanced at the house-telephone.

"I'll have to go the instant he rings for me."

"I'll risk that . . . Georgie, the Old man's transferring me to the Mexican depot for at least a year. And I'm to go at the end of the month."

"Ed!"

"You see what that means, girl? We shan't see each other for the year, at least. It's not an eternity, I'm not pretending that. All the same, it's to long for me to go on wondering whether at the end of it you'll be any more willing than you are now to chuck your job and marry me. To come straight out with it—will you marry me in a day or two so as to have a bit of fun together before I leave? Or shall I forget you?"

The golden tone of her skin paled a little, her wide mouth was trembling.

"Sure you can forget me?"

"No, of course I'm not sure. But a fellow who's trying to forget a girl will do a lot of things to help him. And if you were to want to whistle me back, well, I mightn't be free to come. . . ."

She didn't resent his stand-and-deliver attitude—she would have done the same in his place; but although she had so much in common with him, she was shrewder than he—and she had studied old Matching's methods for three years. Meet a bluff with a bluff. . . . She played for time.

"Why does he send you to Mexico?"

Eddie shrugged.

"He did mention something about a relation of his," he said—"Nephew, I think it was, who'd been out there and is going out again. Wants to take a pilot and observer out with him. Chap's in town now and I'm to meet him in a day or two. . . . But that's neither here nor there. What I want, girl, is your yes or no. I can stand up to it if it's no, but I won't wait for it any longer."

(Copyright, Julia Cleft-Addams)

Piles All Gone

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemmorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 960 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. Mathews Cut Rate says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back. —Adv.

VOTE FOR GALBREATH AND TAX RELIEF

Do you believe in the confiscation of property? Are you ready to turn your home or farm over to the county in payment for taxes? Do you want to drive our manufacturers and business concerns out of our county where taxes are lower? If not, investigate! Nominate and elect to office those who favor cutting down the cost of government.

JAMES E. GALBREATH

James E. Galbreath, one of the Republican candidates for County Commissioner is leading the fight for lower taxes. He is honest and sincere. He does not mince words to avoid the issue or in order to secure votes. You know where he stands. He says that it is now time to call a halt to waste and extravagance in spending public money. Some do not agree with him. Some believe in the boosting of taxes and the payment of higher salaries. Mr. Galbreath says that the unemployed need not expect employment until the farmers, the manufacturers and the business men are relieved of over taxation and are given an opportunity to use their own money. Why pay so much for public improvements and neglect our home improvements?

What do you think? If the taxpayers vote as they talk, Mr. Galbreath will carry every precinct in the county.

If you desire to cut down the cost of government—

URGE LICENSE FOR FIREARMS

LONDON, O., May 9.—A law compelling all persons who own firearms to secure a license is recommended in the annual report of William N. Smith, superintendent of the Ohio bureau of criminal identification and investigation.

Smith, who is founder and head of the largest state identification bureau in the country, also recommends that licenses be compulsory for employers of tear gas.

"Tear gas, if allowed to remain uncontrolled by proper license of its sale and possession," Smith said, "will become a menace which will supereced that of firearms."

150 TO ATTEND CHURCH RALLY

Zone Free Methodist Societies Meet In Oakland.

Arrangements for a district meeting of young persons' societies of Free Methodist churches which will be held in the Oakland edifice in Holliday street next week were discussed following services there Sunday.

The First Free Methodist church of Avondale street and the Chester, W. Va., Free Methodist congregation in addition to the Oakland edifice will be represented at the rally, Rev. Charles B. Callen, Oakland pastor announced.

Approximately 150 guests from the three societies are expected to attend the affair, when a program of addresses, readings, music and prayer will be featured. Rev. Callen will deliver a brief address.

The program is being arranged by an entertainment committee headed by Elmer Hunt of Etruria street, who will preside. According to present plans the visiting delegations will participate in the program.

LIST SINGERS FOR CONTEST

Ten Clubs From District Will Participate In Negro League Program May 30.

Names of ten quartets who will participate in a district Negro spiritual singers' contest in the Moose hall in Fourth and Washington streets Memorial day, announced today by the East End Negro Civic league, the sponsors, were:

Jolly Four, Alliance; Word Sears, Cleveland; True Tone Quartet, Wellsville; Ever Ready Quartet, Wellsville; International Valley Four, East Liverpool; I. N. I. Four, East Liverpool; and Harmonizing Kings, Four Clouds of Joy, The Clef Spiritual Four and the Harmony Four, all of Midland, Pa.

PLAN FALL RADIO SESSION

Z. R. K. Club Sponsors Program For Tri-State Meeting; 300 Expected To Attend.

Plans are being completed by the Q. R. K. Short Wave club here for a fall meeting of Tri-State radio and electrical organizations at which approximately 300 fans are expected to attend, Charles Stull, president, has announced.

Although a definite place has not been decided upon the rally, East Liverpool has been suggested because of its central location, it was pointed out. Secretaries of many clubs have corresponded on the proposed session, which will probably be held in September.

The East End unit, sponsors, are making an effort to interest the American Radio Relay league, with headquarters in Hartford, Conn., through which a larger program with greater representation could be carried out. The present program calls for speakers, technical discussions, awarding of radio and electric equipment and banquet, Stull said.

A delegation from the Q. R. K. club recently attended a meeting of the Beaver Valley Radio club in the Penn-Beaver Hotel of Rochester, Pa., when a demonstration of the radio-telephone was given. They were Kenneth and Colin Brown of St. George street, Charles Stull of Erie street and Kenneth Wright of Railroad street.

F. O. E. ATTEND SERVICES AT M. P. CHURCH

Lodgemen Mark Mothers' Day Here Sunday Morning.

"The bloom may be lost upon a mother's cheek, the sparkle of youth be absent from her eye and her form be stooped with the advent of years yet she will grow more precious and be the more greatly esteemed," declared Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church of Jackson street, Sunday morning.

With members of the East Liverpool aerie No. 457, F. O. Eagles in attendance he spoke upon the theme, "A Tribute To Mothers." Headed by the uniformed section of the order the members marched to the church from their Broadway quarters. They were escorted by the high school band.

"It is a splendid departure for members of an order to come to church upon Mother's day and by such an act pay tribute to mothers everywhere," averred Rev. Dimit. He spoke upon the Solomonic words, "Her children will rise up and call her blessed."

"It is not her physical qualities but rather those of her heart and soul that make the mothers of men precious," he said. "Because of this fact they have become the best teachers the world has known.

"The word 'Mother' has been held in a questionnaire directed by a college professor to be the most beautiful word in the English language with that of 'Home' next and closely linked to it. The name of mother is so sacred that it has always had a response. It touches the core of the soul as no other word. No mere sympathy or emotion has made the word 'mother' sacred and dear. It has come about by the traits and characteristics revealed in a mother."

PASTOR COMDEMNS WAR

Rev. Secrest Also Hits Saloon in Mother's Day Sermon.

"There is no more beautiful way to celebrate Mother's day than to utilize the interim for a reconsecration to those tender and holy things that cause persons in the world to become better men and women," asserted Rev. Paul E. Secrest, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church on West Fifth and Jackson streets Sunday morning.

He spoke upon the theme, "A Mother's Day Message."

"A sinister foe to mothers and motherhood is war," he said. "It is the mothers of a country, not the men who grumble at the increase in taxes or even the young men who give themselves to be sacrificed who bear the heavy burden of war.

"Even when sons die bravely upon the field of battle the burden which they were to bear during the sunset of their lives slip from the shoulders of these sons to those of the mothers who thus are forced to carry on. It is thus true that the burdens of war fall upon the mothers of men.

"No better way to celebrate Mother's day can be discovered than upon it to dedicate one's self anew to the destruction of war and thus lead in the opportunity afforded to blot it from modern life.

"Another foe of mothers is the saloon. And there are those in these days who would bring the saloons back though they aver they are against them. It does not matter whether a glass of gin is served over a linen covered table or besides a brass rail. When a man drinks it it will steal his brain from whatsoever angle dispensed. Women largely brought about prohibition and they can maintain it."

MOTHER HEART OF HOME

Rev. Hoyt Praises Motherhood at Church of God.

"Not only should mothers be honored with a day devoted to them but fathers as well and both should be upon the same day and known as Parents' day," asserted Rev. Ethel Hoyt, pastor of the Church of God on West Ninth street Sunday morning. Her subject was "A Tribute to Mothers."

"The father is the head of the home as the mother is the heart of it," she said. "And the divine injunction is to honor thy father and mother. It is the first commandment with a promise attached to it. Length of days will be accorded those who obey this command of God. And it implies that the Heavenly Father also must be honored and obeyed.

"Inspiration from the Father of mankind should be in the hearts of all for their guidance and direction. None should struggle up the steps of life unsustained by God.

"When asked what the world needed most Napoleon replied: 'A Christian mother.' When Chief Justice Morrison R. Waite had administered the oath of office to James A. Garfield as he assumed the presidency he kissed the Bible and then turned, after giving back the volume to the justice and kissed his aged mother.

"George Washington, seeing his mother in tears, ordered his trunk returned to his home, and gave up his plan of going to sea. D. L. Moody, out in the woods to pray, met men whom he asked to sing for his mother. And they did so with great effect. These instances but reveal the influence of mothers upon the lives of men whom the world calls great."

HOME NEEDS BIBLE.

Religious Education Stressed By Pastor at Presbyterian Church.

"The outstanding need in homes at the moment is a greater teaching within them of the Bible," maintained Rev. J. C. Lawther, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in East Fourth street Sunday morning. His subject was "The Bible In the Home."

"The home is outstanding at this time in a lack of the teaching of the Bible in it. The weakest link in our teaching system is the failure to include a sufficient study of the scriptures in it.

"We are living at a time in which people are asking why the World war was fought? And whether civilization has failed since the nations that indulged in it were Christian ones for the most part. The ideals sought were not brought about. In its wake has come famine, pestilence and depression.

"And in the attempt of discovering the cause for such a situation some blame capitalism, some politics and some the suggested failure of the church and the school. The church believes that the school is to blame and the school thinks the cause lays in the church. Both largely blame the home for prevailing situations.

"The fundamental principles of both church and school are to be noted in the home. With all of its faults it is the greatest institution in the world. And mothers in it are preeminent in their influence."

PASTOR LAUDS MOTHERHOOD

Mothers' Day Observed at First Baptist Church Sunday.

"There is no greater attainment in the realm of womanhood than that of being a mother filled with the ideals that characterize one meeting its fullest possibilities," averred Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church of West Fifth street Sunday night.

He spoke upon the theme "Mother Better Than Rubies."

"The woman regarded as possessing a price far above rubies has this value because she has a heart filled with love, hands that are utlized in service, feet that walk in giving assistance in service and lips that speak words of cheer and sympathy," he said.

"A woman who has yielded to the plans of the Spirit, one who has been transformed, has a heart for righteousness. Love animates her to such an extent that as a mother her hands go out in service to those about her in never-ceasing activity.

"The mother makes the home her workship in which she is all things to these needing service. She qualifies to the extent of ever having some thing in a secret shelf that will meet the needs of a sick child.

"Her feet are never too tired or weary to perform a service for others in the household. Her feet carry her about such needful tasks. She is always up and about when children are ill. Her lips ever move to tell words that are kind, truthful and which have been impelled by love."

COLUMBIANA

The Green Ray of the Grace Reformed Ladies' Aid society met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nora Wilhelm. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Nora Millen and Mrs. Ralph Myers had charge of the devotionals. Miss Edith Berchtold gave an interesting talk on India.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion sponsored a benefit card party Wednesday night at the Legion hall. There were 28 tables of bridge and "500" in progress.

Robert Chestnut and family have moved from the W. L. Augustine property in West Park avenue, to the Henry Reinehr house in Vine street.

The Mackall family which resided in Vine street last winter while Mr. Mackall was employed at the G. M. McKelvey company store in Youngstown, has returned to its home in Negley.

Mrs. E. F. Miller and Mrs. C. E. Bender were joint hostesses to the Teachers' Bridge club, recently at the former's home in South Main street. Four tables of cards were in play, after which lunch was served. This will be the last party of the club for the year.

Rev. C. R. McMeechen spent Thursday evening in Damascus where he spoke at the final church night program of the season in the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mrs. Howard Holloway of South Main street suffered torn ligaments in her ankle, Wednesday while crossing the lawn at her home. She was taken to the home of her sister, Mrs. Ralph Basler, Middle street.

The Sorosis club was entertained at the home of Mrs. W. T. Holloway, North Elm street, Wednesday night, when an interesting program was given. Mrs. Harry Sponseller read a paper on "Birds in Orchard and Field," and Mrs. L. I. Garrod read a humorous poem. Mrs. E. T. Coyle talked on "Famous Gardens." Mrs. Richard Orr was welcomed as a new member.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Beard, Mr. and Mrs Dodds, Mr and Mrs Bert Binker, Mrs Gertrude Bowman, Mrs. Harry Dill Sr., Mrs. C. J. Hart and Miss Jean Calvin were in East Palestine Wednesday evening attending the annual inspection of the Eastern Star lodge.

An appreciative audience witnessed the concert sponsored by the Music Study club and presented by local talent Tuesday night at the Methodist church, in observance of national music week.

The Lutheran orchestra under the direction of Charles Essenwein rendered a group of three selections. Harry Hetzel pleased with two violin solos. Miss Margaret Stewart and Robert Watkins favored with vocal solos and Mrs. F. E. Griffin read three poems by Edgar Guest. Other vocal selections were given by seven boys from Junior high school and the High School Girls' glee club.

Miss Elsie Louis Deemer slipped on the porch Friday evening and tore the ligaments of her right foot severely.

The School Masters' club met Thursday night at East Palestine with Superintendent C. E. Bender, Principal Edgar Miller, W. C. Scott, John Barlow, Merle Atkinson and Waldo Ward in attendance.

AUTO THIEVES DEMAND RANSOM

By International News Service.

FORT WORTH, Texas.—Officers here are trying to stamp out a new racket.

Car thieves have changed their practice of stealing the autos to "kidnaping" them. They abscond with a car and then notify the owner that they will leave it where it can be found by police for a certain fee, the amount depending on the value of the car and the wealth of the owner. If the owner refuses to pay the ransom, the car is then sent through the channels of the usual stolen car.

TARDIEU LOSES IN FRANCE'S RUN-OFF VOTE

Parties of Left Win Control of Paris Chamber.

BY JOSEPH E. SHARKEY,
Associated Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, May 9.—Premier Andre Tardieu's conservative government stood defeated today with returns virtually complete from yesterday's run-off elections.

The parties of the left, which have not been in power, except for a few days since the famous "left Cartel" of Edouard Herriot, in 1924, swept away the Republican majority in the chamber of deputies and left Herriott's Radical Socialists and the Socialists with a substantial control.

On the basis of yesterday's vote the left groups had 358 seats in the new chamber, compared with the present government's 244. Excluding the communists, this gave the left a majority of 100 seats.

Herriot appeared to be the man of the hour. His party captured 151 of the 615 seats, a gain of 42. Leon Blum's socialists won 129 seats, a gain of 12, and the Republican Socialists also a left group, won 39 seats. The Communists won 9 seats and the dissident Communists 12.

Speculation began promptly over what will be the result of the election in the formation of a new government. Herriot's party is the leading group in the new chamber. Whether he would unite with the Socialists in another "left cartel" as he did in 1924, or turn to the left center and support a government with some such figure as Paul Painleve as premier was the question most discussed.

East Palestine

Grace Harvey, 16, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Harvey, died Saturday at 3 p. m. at her home in Garfield avenue after about four months' illness from a blood clot. She was born January 1, 1916, at East Palestine. She was a member of the junior class of the local high school, also a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. She leaves her mother, four brothers, Russell, William, Cecil and Chester, and two sisters, Ruth and Louis, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held from the home Tuesday at 2 p. m., Rev. H. J. Thompson officiating. Burial in the local cemetery.

Miss Florence Gingham returned to her home in New Brighton last evening after a week's visit with Miss Rita Maumann.

Raymond Flynn and son of Wellsville visited over Sunday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ellen Flynn, Alice street.

John Gillis and grandson, Jack Klunk of Lisbon, were visitors in the Peter Gilis home in East Main street.

HOMER W.
Hammond
For Probate Judge
Qualified by 22 Years of Active, Successful Practice of Law.

At the age of eighteen years, he entered the eighth grade of the Lisbon Schools and soon became a honor pupil. He then attended Normal school at Rogers, and secured a certificate to teach in the elementary schools of the county. He taught school during the day studied at night and the period between terms of school was spent in the Academic Departments of different Universities. It was in this manner that he acquired his High School and other Literary Training. He studied law at Ohio Northern University, Ada, Ohio, was graduated with honor in 1910. He was admitted to the practice of law in Ohio on June 24th, 1910.

The Probate Judge's Office of this county is in charge of Judge Riddle. He has served in this capacity during the following periods:

FIRST TERM

Appointed to fill the unexpired term of Judge Farr, who had been elected as Judge of the Court of Appeals. Took office soon after General Election in November, 1916, and served until February, 9th, 1917.

SECOND TERM

Elected at General Election in November, 1920; took office on February 9th, 1921.

THIRD TERM

Re-elected in 1924, continued in office.

FOURTH TERM

Re-elected in 1928, continued in office and will remain in office until February 9th, 1933.

The salary and inheritance tax fees paid to the Probate Judge during the year of 1931 exceeded $6,100.00. This is but one year. Make your own estimate of the amount that will have been paid to the present Probate Judge by the time he has completed his twelve full years in this office.

The Judge's daughter has been on the County Payroll under him for over 7 years. Her monthly salary for much of the time being $140.00. She married a very successful business man in 1928, but has remained on the County Payroll continually since that time.

After the Judge was re-elected for his third term, he asked for the resignation of the most faithful and efficient employees of the office, to create a position for his son. The salary of the son was fixed at $200.00 per month. This move placed the entire Riddle family upon the County Payroll.

You can rely upon Mr. Hammond for the most economical and efficient conduct of this office. He fully understands the problems of the tax payer and realizes that the only way that taxes can be reduced is by the reduction of expenditures.

Vote!

East Liverpool and Columbiana county with the rest of Ohio will go to the polls Tuesday to express party presidential preferences, name national and state convention delegates and nominate state, district and county tickets for the November election.

About 200 candidates' names appear on the ballots for the Republican and Democratic primary election, and the party winners will oppose each other in the general election in the fall.

If political forecasters have not missed their guesses, a comparatively light vote will be cast in Columbiana county, notwithstanding 56 candidates 42 Republicans and 14 Democrats—seek fall ticket places. Estimates of the poll run as low as 14,000, or 40 per cent of the voting strength in the county's 110 precincts and but 4,000 more than the total registration in East Liverpool, the county's largest city.

Partisans have the welfare of Ohio in their hands Tuesday. No better men can be elected next November than are nominated in the primaries. The average of the field of candidates may not be high enough to suit all critics, but unless weeded out to the best of the state's ability it will be even more distressing predicament that voters will face next fall when they elect, not candidates, but officials.

The way to make the system work is to work it. Admitted that the direct primary defies efficient operation, it is, nevertheless, the present means of doing a necessary job. Voters face a real task in choosing a few from the many. It will be futile to complain next November about mistakes that could have been avoided in May.

Voters are urged to make themselves familiar, so far as is possible, with the long lists of names with which they will be presented at the polls. There are few who will be able to understand the merits and demerits of all the candidates, but there should be at least an effort to know everything that is necessary about the more important candidates.

It is a duty as well as a privilege to vote. Go to the polls Tuesday.

Symbols of Authority.

He who would stand in high places must be willing to make of himself a target. The assassin's grievance is against the crowd, but his gun is pointed at the man who stands at the crowd's head.

Paul Doumer, elderly president of the French republic, is the latest victim of assassinative wrath. Elevated to his nation's nominal leadership as the man best qualified for its honorary importance, he was looking forward to ending his life peacefully when he was shot to death.

His assassin, a Russian seeking revenge from France for its refusal to intervene against the Bolsheviki, had written in a notebook before the attack: "This day I killed the president of the French republic." In his warped mind the death of a gentle, harmless old man who had given his life's energy to French politics represented genuine achievement.

President Hoover is guarded constantly lest he be destroyed as a symbol of authority. So are all presidents, all dictators, all rulers. Occasionally the guard fails. Occasionally, as when it failed at Sarejevo, a nation rivals the folly of the assassin by going to war. It is possible that civilization may free itself, ultimately, from all such relics of barbarism, but who can say what man will or will not be sacrificed to the lunacy of a killer tomorrow or next day? This time it was Paul Doumer, going peacefully along toward the end of his life. Who has his assassin hurt most by the bullets he fired, France or the individual who was standing at the head of France?

Norris Will Bolt Hoover.

An insurgent wins his spurs by dashing out of line. If all legislators were addicted to the practice, insurgents would be identified by their ability to dash further out of line than the others. The essence of the type is irregularity.

Senator Norris, who sets insurgent fashions, bolted the Republican party whose colors he wears inconspicuously and supported Alfred E. Smith for the presidency in 1928. There is no surprise, therefore, in his announcement that this year he will bolt the party again and support Franklin R. Roosevelt, if the latter is nominated.

Unfortunately, Senator Norris names no second choice. His preference for Governor Roosevelt presumably is the governor's stand on the water power, which is one of Mr. Norris' hobbies. He is so anxious that Mr. Roosevelt get the nomination, in fact, that he has instructed one of the senate's coming first rate insurgents, Huey P. Long, to swing the Louisiana delegation for the New York governor.

Senator Norris has a vast deal to gain and nothing to lose in following his latest political lead. In addition to enhancing his reputation as a true insurgent, he is making a play which, if successful, might help him promote his ideas on government operation of utilities. Senator Norris bolting the Republican party to go courting strange gods isn't strange in the least. What a disturbance and raising of eyebrows there would be if he were to stay with the party!

Political Mustard Plasters.

The worst thing that can be said about President Hoover's vigorous special message on economy given before congress is that its purpose was to increase the President's chances for reelection. The best answer to that would be that Mr. Hoover's popularity is bound to increase if he can slap a mustard plaster on congress where it will do some good. That's politics—good, clean straightforward politics.

Congress, particularly the house of representatives, has admitted by its legislative action that there is no leadership, plan nor purpose in its activity. It is fumbling; it has imparted its panic to the country. The public mind is disturbed, as it may well be when it is painfully evident that the nation's highest legislative body has become the victim of minority rule. The Democratic party, trying desperately to live up to its political responsibilities with only a nominal majority, has made a sad fizzle of its program. Lobbies and minorities have destroyed its sense of direction. Fear of losing their jobs has made of congressmen so many sheep with no leader.

The nation has been paralyzed by fear of what such a disorganized gang may enact in the way of a taxation program. It is disgusted by the absurb helplessness of a legislative body which could save only $30,000,000 in a budget calling for more than 75 times that much. It is angered by the fact that the cost of government must continue to increase when the national income has been deflated by more than one-third. The United States rarely has been more disheartened with the inefficiency of its congress.

These are the matters of which President Hoover talked. He demands a restoration of common sense, a united effort by both parties and their bolters to think less of their own precious skins and more of the United States of America. He spoke fairly for the people whom he was elected to lead. They are hopeful that the mustard plaster he slapped on congress may bring congressmen to their senses. If it was politics, and there may have been that idea behind it, let there be more of the same kind.

A Demonstration.

There will be bands, fluttering flags and ladies waving handkerchiefs. There will be huzzas, goggle-eyed kids and motorcycle policemen hurrying to nowhere. There will be favorable notices in the newspapers and many pictures of the dignitaries in the line of march.

There will be America's greatest municipal personality resplendent in whatever costume he decides to wear. There will be New York's finest standing erect and New York's uncounted masses shoving one another around on the sidewalks to get a place to see.

There will be a lot of friendship and noise and everyone will have a grand time. And it's all being done in the name of beer—foaming beer that would and will taste just fine when aching feet that don't take kindly to parading are released from tight shoes and their owner expands in the ruddy glow of his own accomplishment.

Mayor Jimmy Walker expects that the next effect of his beer march on May 14 will be to notify congress of a strong national demand for beer as a new source of taxation in preference to some of the sources now under consideration. A noble motive nobly expressed by a noble American, but—

Does congress have to be told by means of a march that there are many Americans who want beer? How about it, mayor? Why not break down and admit that the real reason could be told by the lines of a certain popular song that says "I love a parade!" Shucks, it's springtime and we're all human.

The Welfare of the People.

It would be difficult to imagine a more distressing set of circumstances than would have resulted from a decision holding unconstitutional the bill giving Ohio counties the right to issue relief bonds to be retired from revenue derived from the added tax of gross earnings of public utilities. An important part of the purpose of the general assembly's legislative efforts in the recent special session would have been destroyed. Communities which have been grasping at straws in their desperation would be denied even that slight comfort. Ohio would have to admit that its officials were incapable of performing an emergency act.

In holding the law constitutional, Judge Thomas A. Jones of the state supreme court began his opinion with "Salus Populi supreme lex est." "The welfare of the people is the paramount law"—a simple sentence whose message all to frequently escapes the understanding of the public servant. Never was there a case where the welfare of the people depended more directly on efficient action by the people's agency—the government of Ohio. It does not matter that the means by which communities have been enabled to raise funds for the relief of the needy are subject to criticism. The quickest method was chosen; there is no time to strive for perfection when life is hanging in the balance. As the last legal obstacle in the way of its relief program is cleared away, Ohio has reason to congratulate itself for the handling of a difficult situation.

JAMES BIRD

By J. H. Galbraith.

For The Associated Press.

One of the men who fought with Perry in the Battle of Lake Erie was afterward shot as a deserter. As a sergeant in the Pennsylvania Militia James Bird went voluntarily to Erie when Perry was fitting out his fleet there, and was sent to guard stores. It was found that some of these stores were stolen and it seemed that this could hardly take place without the knowledge of Bird.

A young officer, Lieutenant John Brooks, knew Bird to be a fearless fellow arranged to have the charge against him dropped if he would enlist to serve on ship with Perry's Fleet, and that was done. In the battle of But-In-Bay he served bravely and well, but later when preparations were being made for the Mackinaw expedition, while he was again in charge of stores, Bird again fell, and with a mate, John Rankin, deserted. An acquaintance accidently discovered where Bird was hiding and reported him. He was arrested at once and taken back to Erie where he was tried by court martial for desertion, with two comrades who had committed a like offense, and all were found guilty and sentenced to be executed.

They were all three shot by a firing squad on board the Niagara at Erie, Pa., in October, 1814, and their bodies buried in the sand of the lake shore there. The records of the battle of Lake Erie showed that James Bird was severely wounded on Perry's flagship, the Lawrence. His name also appears in the list of those who were entitled to prize money that fell to the victors in that battle. The amount of his share was $214.89 and it is a tragic feature of the story that it appears that this sum was drawn by the attorney of Bird's father about three months after his execution.

In song and story, Bird's fault and punishment have been greatly twisted from the truth. It has been said that Perry sent a reprieve but it came too late. He did not. The president was appealed to for a pardon but he refused it.

New York Day By Day

By O. O. McINTYRE.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Betimes and gladdened by an original drawing of a dozen dogs from Bert Levy, the actor-cartoonist, and also a letter from Tod Sloan, the jockey, living happily in Los Angeles. And once a nimble ripple in the Broadway flow.

Working most of the afternoon and abroad with my wife but in a great wax over news an entire week's labour was lost carelessly in the mails, which, pray Heaven, may be recovered. So coming upon Flora Zabelle Hitchcock and driving her to Frank Case's tavern.

Came Eva Steinmetz and Otis Ralston to dine and word from Frank McIntyre, the play actor, he could not arrive for the spread. High luck for him, too, for we ran low of meat. Later, to a fair fling of the Bronx to watch certain capers of marathon dancers, befogged by lack of sleep.

A newspaper crowd, illuminating the darkened corner of a grill, discussed the most poignant heart wrench in the run of a day's news. My choice was the menu Mrs. Charles Lindbergh issued to guide heartless kidnapers of her child.

There was a pathetic touch, too, in the usual sidewalk clamor today near Brenton's in the Forties. A forlorn street band was tooting "Happy Days Are Here Again." After tossing a coin into an upturned derby, the leader megaphoned above the din: "Remember me? I used to be in the pit at the Globe."

Personal nomination for the poorest play of the season—George Bernard Shaw's "Too True to be Good."

Incidentally, the dramatic criticality for the season was in Bob Garland's review of the super Shavian stupidity. He pronounced it: "Not so Hot Shaw."

Taxicab etiquette has undergone a distinct improvement since Wall Street soured. The phenomenon is attributed to a new class of workers seeping into the field of charioteering. Some are men who drove their own cars—indeed several are unfortunates once employing their own chauffeurs.

My chauffeur, Fred Fitch, has an unbroken record for strict observance of traffic regulations. Not once has he brushed even slightly other cars, although he has had the customary beetle-brows bang into him from behind. His conversation is limited to "No Sir" and "Yes Sir" and never has he been a second late. In mufti, he suggests a theological student, and instead of reading tabloids during waits he peruses the Atlantic Monthly. It will by my luck to find a sociological slummer seeing how the other half lives.

There is something of the poet in Jack Doyle, of the billiard parlors. He finds beauty in the metropolitan muck by riding along the serpentine path of the Sixth avenue elevated these golden-grained evenings. "At the end of each cross street," he rhapsodizes, "is a burst of sunset red. No artist has ever painted so romantically the death of another day."

In my opinion not since Big Bill Devery has New York had a police commissioner so physically expressive of the calling as the present and highly freckled incumbent—Edward Mulrooney.

Contrariwise, there are many celebrities whose professions the stranger would never guess. For instance: Joseph Urban, the scenic artist. Katharine Cornell, the emotional actress. Percy Hammond, the critic. Dr. John Erdmann, the surgeon. William Beebe, the explorer. Victor Moore, the comedian. Arthur Hopkins, the producer.

Most of us, I suppose, form a mental picture of figures in the public eye. I think my greatest disappointment was in a real life close-up of Douglas Fairbanks. I thought of him as broad shouldered and powerfully built. Instead he seemed undersized and just a shade floppish.

At one of those teas this afternoon talk ebbed to the conversational low of discussing the terrible surplus of wheat. "It could be worse," said Harry Silvey. And after a long pause added: "It might have been spinach."

How To Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

IN a recent report from the Department of Health of New York City, it is stated that the number of cases of measles reported in 1931 was greater than that of the preceding year. But 1931 was not expected to be a "measles year."

Since 1918, records show that even-numbered years are likely to be "measles years," the numbers of cases of measles having far exceeded those reported in odd-numbered years. For example, in 1928 over 35,000 cases were reported. In the following year, an odd-numbered year, there were only 2,000 cases.

Measles is essentiall a disease of children, and it is a serious ailment when it affects children under five years of age. It is highly contagious and practically all children who are exposed will contract the disease.

The first symptom is usually like that of a severe cold in the head. The eyes, nose and throat become inflamed and the eyes are extremely sensitive to light. The sufferer becomes restless, has fever and refuses food. About the fourth day the fever goes down and a rash appears on the face and back.

This rash spreads over the body, but as soon as it appears the patient feels better. The rash lasts about a week, and peeling of the skin occurs in about ten days. The disease is contagious until a week after the rash disappears.

Unfortunately measles is usually considered as a mild disease, but though the disease itself is seldom fatal, the complications which may occur are dangerous. These are broncho-pneumonia, influenza, real pneumonia, severe laryngitis and intestinal complications. Every effort should be made to prevent these dangers.

The Proper Treatment.

It is exceedingly important to separate the patient from the rest of the family, and all exposed persons must be kept under observation. Exposed children, unless they have already had measles, must not be permitted to attend school or to play with other children.

The patient should be kept warm in an airy room, and protected from drafts. Admit to the room all sunshine possible but protect the patient's eyes from any glare, either with smoked glasses or placing pads over the eyes. Also, the eyes should be cleansed frequently with warm boric acid solution. Pure white vaseline may be placed upon the lids to prevent their sticking together.

The rash often causes the skin to become greatly irritated and inflamed. To overcome this annoying condition, sponge the skin with baking powder dissolved in water. When the skin peels, daily baths with baking powder solution are beneficial.

We should cooperate to wipe out this disease. Every year must be made a "non-measles year."

Answers To Health Queries.

R. T. G. Q.—What should a girl of 20, 5 ft. 6 in. tall, weigh?

2.—What causes a gnawing pain below the breast?

A.—She should weigh about 132 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

2.—This is probably due to gas, caused by indigestion.

A Constant Reader. Q.—How long can a person go without eating and what effects would it have on one?

A.—This is very unwise and harmful. If you want to reduce the weight, eat very sparingly of starches, sugars and fats. A gradual reduction in the amount of food consumed, with the regular exercise, will work wonders in most cases.

A. F. Z. Q.—What can I do for my heel? The skin has turned white and it resembles a large blister. It has an offensive odor and the skin seems very moist.

A.—I would advise you to consult a physician for personal examination.

"Anxious to Get Well." Q.—What will cure colitis?

A.—Send self-addressed stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

A Constant Reader. Q.—Will you please tell me how to lose about fifteen pounds?

A.—Avoid sweets and starches. For full particulars restate your question and send a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. M. P. Q.—What will cure catarrhal deafness?

A.—You should have treatment for the catarrhal condition.

ALL IN FUN

HOLLYWOOD — Being a little up against it for some ready cash, a certain movie actor decided to sell his gold watch to the highest bidder on the set. Walking over to a director he said, "Listen, Joe, I'm trying to auction off this three hundred dollar watch of mine. Give me a start, will you?"

"Sure," said the director, "seventy-five cents." "What?" screamed the actor. "Ah," replied the director, "I thought that would give you a start."

The Reviewing Stand

By TOM JONES.

THE bridge over Little Beaver creek at Sprucevale, St. Clair township, was built in 1885. At the time it was a project of some moment in the immediate locality. Its erection was watched with interest by those who lived in proximity. It was erected just off the site of one of the store-rooms that formerly abounded in the little hamlet that once flourished upon the banks of the stream at this point.

But by the following year, 1886, there arose a controversy regarding a bit of the material that had been placed in the structure that connected the banks between which the creek ran. The controversy had to do with the east wing wall upon the north abutment.

In those days there were country correspondents to the various papers that then obtained in the county. And these in their writings took occasion to note their objections regarding the building of the bridge. For a time there was considerable discussion over the matter. Others defended its building and concurred in that done to complete its erection.

The incident but serves to reveal that the problems of the present-day were practically the same as those of the early residents of the county. There were those who were quick to criticise a public improvement and others as ready to rush to the defense of those who had performed it.

Whatever the full details of the controversy that raged for a time thereafter the bridge functioned and has continued to do so in all of the succeeding years. By now because of the building of new roadways over other routes it may not be utilized to the same extent that it once was. Itnow may become of use mostly for the inhabitants of the near-by sections as they connect with the perhaps more general routes now traveled.

The old bridge may thus have lost some of its side sections for the moment in the rush of things. But always there are some heavy boards lying near by to repair it when that departure becomes necessary. The day may come when the bridge or one succeeding it may be greatly used again when possible improvements to the roadway that it connects shall have been made.

BACK in 1901 the Vodrey Pottery company had the distinction of having the largest engine of its type in the city and one that was larger than was then being used in any other East Liverpool pottery for the operation of its machinery. It was a Corliss model. There was much interest at the time in the electric light plant which the management of the concern had installed. It furnished and operated 350 lights that were utilized in the plant and in the adjacent homes of those directing it.

This plant derived its power from a 35-horse-power Westinghouse gas engine that was of an upright double-engine type. It had an Akron dynamo of 125 voltage. It was in charge of M. S. Dunlap, the engineer of the pottery. The plant was one that admitted of self-oiling and had the added appointment of holding 10 gallons in reserve. It ran as easily as a sewing machine. It attracted upon its installation many visitors. It was operated for many years thereafter. It turned out a clear light. It had been equipped in a manner that it could be easily kept clean. Thus it loomed an appealing bit of machinery by reason of its ever attractive appearance.

But the installation of single electric light plants in some of the city's industries some 30 or more years ago, did not obscure the fact that just a few miles away incidents could occur that smacked of those met by the founding fathers of the Ohio river locality. It so happened that just about the same time the late Dr. C. B. Ogden, while on his way to call upon a patient in West Virginia, was startled by having the horse that he was driving stopping in the roadway and rearing in his shafts.

Thinking that perhaps some pieces of harness had caused distress to the animal the physician descended and made an investigation. Then he discovered a copperhead snake, almost three feet in length, just in front of the horse and hissing defiance. He managed to obtain a forked stick and took with him a hitching strap and approached the snake from the rear.

WITH the reptile watching the horse in front of him the doctor managed to suddenly hold the snake's head to the ground. He then took the strap and ran it about the serpent's middle. With this arrangement he was able to carry it back to the rear of his buggy. To the back axle he tied the quivering snake. Then he proceeded upon his mission of visiting his patient.

After attending to his duties at this home he procured from those living in it a large glass jar. Taking it to the rear of his buggy he managed to drop the snake into it and seal it securely. Then placing the jar in his vehicle he drove back to East Liverpool.

In his journey that day Dr. Ogden used a pacing horse. He became the center of interest for a while upon his return when he took the large jar in which the copperhead snake was confined and placed it in a window of an uptown drug store. Because of the size of the specimen that he had captured it attracted attention for a considerable while before it was dispatched.

The whistle attached to the Chester Tin Plate mill was blown for the first time upon Wednesday, July 22, 1901. Its sound was thus heard initially at noon of that day. Then the plant was getting ready for subsequent operation. At the time F. F. Riley was in charge of the electric work in it, while I. L. Riley was the craneman. The latter had but arrived from Pittsburgh when the whistle was first heard by the public who had looked forward to hearing it. At the time R. N. Dunn was in full charge of the new industry across the river.

There are those hereabouts who can recall that the postoffice at Yellow Creek some three decades ago was known as Linton. After having been maintained as such for an interim it was discontinued in 1901. The business attached to it was transferred to what was then known as West Wellsville. There another postoffice was at the moment established. It was called Vulcan. Thus mail that had been addressed to "Linton" was for a subsequent interval sent to "Vulcan," Ohio. In time this latter office was also discontinued with the extension of the Wellsville office.

Some notion of the changes in names that postal clerks have to ever keep in mind is indicated by the then discontinuance of these small offices. Few there are by now who remember "Linton" and "Vulcan" as places hereabouts.

An average of 70 pounds of fish is required to produce 48 pounds of salmon, leaving 22 pounds of waste material to be converted to about six pounds of fish meal.

THE THEATER

FLOTSOM, JETSOM OF HUMANITY SEEN IN "NIGHT COURT"

Phillips Holmes, Walter Huston In Cast At Ceramic.

Bleary-eyed vagrants, pasty-faced hopheads, slinky pickpockets, ladies-of-the-night, hopeless derelicts, maudlin drunks, all of the flotsom and jetsom of despairing humanity are seen on parade in "Night Court," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's fascinating drama which was unreeled Sunday at the Ceramic theater.

Here is a film that will remain in your memory. It brushes you against the kind of sordid life you seldom see but which exists—every day—every night—in any metropolitan city. The human background, against which Director W. S. Van Dyke presents this powerful story, is impressively symbolic. In the opinion of this reviewer, the opening shots are as fine a piece of direction witnessed on the screen in many months.

Phillips Holmes heads a brillian cast in this daring film, portraying a story of unequaled sensationalism, taking the crookedness of a night court magistrate for its impelling motivation. Walter Huston, as the corrupt jurist, presents a striking characterization.

Anita Page, as the girl who is framed to seal her lips from investigation bodies, registers appealingly, and the cast includes Lewis Stone, Mary Carlisle, John Miljan, Jean Hersholt, Tully Marshall and Noel Francis.—H. J. K.

THRILLING STORY IS PORTRAYED IN 'THE CROWD ROARS'

Jimmy Cagney, Joan Blondell Co-Star At State.

"Thrilling," "electrifying," "Powerful," "sensational" and kindred words most closely approximate "The Crowd Roars," which opened Sunday at the State theater. It is a picture featuring the fastest action seen on the screen in months. It is mile-a-minute drama, with autos plunging and thundering down the stretch, crashing through fences and over embankments, bursting into flame, while the great crowd of spectators roars with a lust for action, spills, thrills—and blood!

The story is made to order for Jimmy Cagney and Joan Blondell. Jimmy is the dare-devil champ whose recklessness carries through death and destruction to victory. Joan's personality kindles the fires of romance. Both are at their best, the screen's most capable young stars. Their support is excellent, including beautiful Ann Dvorak, Eric Linden, Frank McHugh, Guy Kibbee, and Charlotte Merriam, as well as a score or more of the race track's champion drivers.

Filmed from a story by Seton I. Miller and Howard Hawks, who also directed it, "The Crowd Roars" concerns a reckless driver who leads a hectic life and tries to keep his younger brother from both wine and women. He breaks with the girl he loves and finally with his brother. Half-crabed with anger after the break, Cagney drives in a race, wrecks the car of his best friend and kills him. He declines to the point where he is unable to secure even a mechanic's job. Drifting back to the Indianapolis Speedway, scene of his former triumphs, he meets the girl he loves. She reclaims him and fires him with new courage. When his brother is unable to drive in the big race, Jimmy takes his place and drives to victory.—R. S. E.

NEW TOWBOAT ENTERS TRADE

R. F. Wnton Is Put In Pittsburgh Service.

Increasing the already-large fleet operating on the Ohio river, another new towboat, the R. F. Winton, owned by Capt. Walter Halfhill of Pittsburgh, has been placed in the trade. The motor vessel, which completed its tests and maiden voyage recently, is the most powerful of its class in the district.

The craft is of the stern wheel type and is equipped with two Winton-Diesel engines developing a total of 470 horespower. It is operated by an air steering gear. The boat is 85 feet long, 26 feet wide and 3.8 feet deep and has quarters for a crew of eight.

The steamer Old Reliable has been placed in the pig iron and petroleum towing trade on the Ohio and Allegheny rivers after being painted and repaired.

Repairs to the gates and recess of Lock No. 5 on the Ohio river at Freedom, Pa., have been completed by a federal repair party supervised by R. C. McCulloch of Pittsburgh.

Hawaii's pineapple crop of last year totaled 1,104,000 cans more than that of 1930.

NO EXCUSE FOR "B.O." (body odor)

SOME social faults may be overlooked. But "B.O."—body odor—never! Yet it's so easy to be guilty and not know it. For pores are constantly giving off odor-causing waste—a quart daily. Why risk offending others? Play safe—bathe regularly with Lifebuoy. Its creamy, searching lather, so abundant even in hardest water, purifies and deodorizes pores—stops "B.O." Helps protect health by removing germs from hands. Its pleasant, extra-clean scent vanishes as you rinse.

A fine complexion soap.

Lifebuoy is the secret of millions of lovely skins. Its pure, bland lather cleanses gently, yet thoroughly — freshens dull complexions to healthy radiance. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

No More Dingy Washes For Her — by C.A. Voight

"A little goes so far," says Mrs. O. S. Myers of Grand Rapids

"I NEVER really knew just how far a box of Rinso would go until I kept track of everything I used it for. What a surprise I got when I saw, after ten days, what a lot of work one big box of Rinso can do! I did the dishes 29 times, cleaned the woodwork, sinks and tubs several times, in addition to all this wash:

2 bureau scarfs
5 doilies
11 face cloths
10 napkins
8 pillow cases
3 table cloths
12 towels
8 dish towels
12 handkerchiefs
1 children's nightclothes
24 prs. " stockings
1 nightshirt
2 overalls
3 pairs pajamas
6 shirts
8 pairs socks
5 pcs. underwear
2 aprons
3 housedresses
1 nightgown"

Rinso gives thick suds even in hardest water. Try Rinso. See how much work one big box will do for you.

BURGLARS MAKE SAFE GETAWAY

ELYRIA, O., May 9—Known far and near for his exploits in single-handedly capturing or killing bandits who molest his gas station, Matt Gardner of Elyria is now recovering from a self-inflicted wound he received on his latest "man-hunt."

When the burglar alarm connected with the windows at his station rang in his bedroom, Matt knew what was up and hurriedly dressed. He arrived on the scene too late to nab the intruders, however, and began chasing them through the woods nearby. But he stumbled this time, and his ancient .41 calibre pistol was discharged, the bullet striking him in the leg.

Gardner's gas station has been broken into more than a score of times in the last two years. Although only one-armed and with a crippled leg, Gardner has killed one of the bandits, shot two others and captured several of them.

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS TIME IS HELD ILLEGAL BY CLARK

PLAN TO MOVE CLOCK HANDS SEEMS DOOMED

Solicitor To Send Ruling To City Council.

LAW IS QUOTED

Ohio Code Provides For Eastern Standard.

The proposed adoption of daylight savings time in East Liverpool appeared doomed today following a ruling by Solicitor G. J. Clark that the "city council cannot legally change the standard of time from that contained in the Ohio code."

The ruling was sent to each member of the city council in compliance with a request made two weeks ago when an ordinance calling for a change in the time was ordered prepared.

Clark cited Section 5979 of the General Code which fixes Eastern time as the standard of time throughout the Cincinnati case in which the court ruled that the daylight savings ordinance was invalid for the reason that it was contrary to the statutes and the constitution of the Ohio.

"In the opinion of the solicitor's office, the council of the city of East Liverpool has power only to enact a daylight savings ordinance when such ordinance requires that the purely municipal affairs of the city shall be regulated by the standard of time thus adopted and such adoption of time by council could only have to do solely with municipal functions, local governmental action and procedure," the solicitor's letter read.

Trades and Labor council at its meeting last week went on record against the proposal.

In view of the solicitor's ruling no legislation for changing the time will be introduced at tonight's meeting of the lawmakers.

2,500 BALLOTS WILL BE CAST IN WELLSVILLE

Spirited Contest For Offices Seen In Primary.

Wellsville political leaders today predicted that 2,500 votes would be cast Tuesday in the Republican and Democratic primary election in which candidates will be named for national, State, district and county offices.

Interest is marked in fights for county posts on the Republican ticket.

The Wellsville candidates are R. D. McGill, former city engineer, seeking the Republican nomination for county surveyor, and William G. Aughinbaugh who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for representative to the general assembly.

Democrats will also write in the name of John Mortland for county recorder. He will make the race in November against Mrs. Edith Elliott, Republican.

At the municipal election last November the total vote exceeded 3,300.

500 Lives Lost in Hurricane Which Hits State of Annam

Storm Strikes Furiously in Towns East of Capital of French Cochin-China.

By The Associated Press.

HANOI, French Indo-China, May 9.—Five hundred lives were lost in a hurricane which swept from the China sea across the southern end of the state of Annam last Wednesday, reports reaching here today said.

Several Europeans were included in the death list.

The storm struck most furiously at the towns of Phanthiest, 75 miles east of Saigon, capital of French Cochin-China, and Bangoy, 30 miles farther along the coastal railway. Communications were wrecked and accurate information was difficult to obtain.

It was learned, however, that the towns of Cana and Dran were wiped out and that the European population of Canada was without shelter.

The hurricane was followed by flood.

MIDLAND YOUTH DOES PORTRAIT

Former Steel City Pupil Finished Painting of the Late John Phillip Sousa.

Angelo di Vencenzo, formerly of Midland and a son of Mr. and Mrs. James di Vencenzo of Creighton, Pa., has just completed a special commission portrait of the late John Phillip Sousa, nationally famous bandmaster. A picture in the rotogravure section of the Corriere D'America, an Italian newspaper, shows di Vencenzo putting the last touches to the portrait at his studio.

He has won wide fame as a painter since he left Midland and the completion of art studies in Pittsburgh and New York. He showed exceptional talent while a student at the Fourth street school in Midland. He lived with his family at 416 Beaver avenue, Midland, until the household moved to Creighton in 1924.

TRAINER RECOVERS FROM LION'S ATTACK

His life in danger for several weeks, Clyde Beatty, America's greatest wild animal trainer, made a remarkable recovery and is again the principal attraction of the Great Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus. This noted show comes to East Liverpool for afternoon and night exhibitions on Saturday, May 21.

While rehearsing his act last winter at the quarters in Peru, Ind., Beatty stumbled and was bitten by his favorite lion, "Nero." Injuries to his leg made necessary a trip to the hospital, where a high fever developed and it was discovered that he had been infected by a germ of the Pasteurella group. This germ had never before been found in a human in America.

The stamina and robustness of the young trainer enabled him to win the fight. Within a few weeks he was again battling his charges in the arena. There was quite a reunion when Beatty again faced "Nero." The gallant little trainer states his faithful lion did not attack him purposely, but when he fell believed he was in danger and rushing to the rescue, put a fang into his thigh.

MARKETS

STOCK MARKET WORKS HIGHER

Price Trends Mixed In Early Trading Today.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 9.—The stock market worked quietly higher in listless trading early in today's session.

Price trends were narrow and mixed at the opening, but a few issues soon turned upward, with Du-Pont, Auburn and Coca Cola getting up 1 to nearly 2 points. Issues up ½ point or more during the first half hour included U. S. Steel, American Can, North American, American Telephone and Consolidated Gas. Eastman and Allied Chemical sagged about a point, then recovered.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM O'REILLY FUNERAL.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Tuesday in the Catholic church in Niles for William O'Reilly, 67, formerly of Chester and East Liverpool, who died suddenly Saturday from a paralytic stroke in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Casey, at Niles. The body will be brought to the St. Aloysius' cemetery here at 12:30 p. m. where the casket will be opened prior to burial.

WILLIAM S. ANDERSON

BEAVER—Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. today at the home in Second street for William S. Anderson, 61, real estate and insurance broker, who died at 7 a. m. Saturday at his home after a week's illness. Rev. H. D. Whitfield, pastor of the Beaver Methodist Episcopal church, was in charge of the services. Burial was made in the Beaver cemetery.

Mr. Anderson was born here September 25, 1870, a son of the late William B. and Mary Anderson. He was a member of the Bovard-Anderson company here since 1905. Before then he was engaged in the grocery business, traveling salesman and railroad company agent.

He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, St. James Lodge No. 457, Free and Accepted Masons; Sons of Veterans, Rotary club of Rochester and the Beaver Valley Chamber of Commerce.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jessie Adams Anderson; one son, Adams Ander on of Beaver; two daughters, Isabelle of Pittsburgh and Marian of Beaver; and one grandchild.

The Orange Free State is named from the Orange river, which flows through the state, and is the longest river in South Africa. It was named after the Prince of Orange in 1777.

TABER URGES COMMON SENSE IN CONGRESS

Candidate for Senator Speaks Here Sunday.

Declaring "we have in congress too much law and too little common sense," L. J. Taber of Barnesville, master of the National grange and candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator at tomorrow's primary election, addressed a county-wide rally under the auspices of the Columbiana County Dry Federation in the First Presbyterian church in East Fourth street Sunday afternoon.

Taber was introduced by H. L. Fox, publisher of a Salem farm paper. R. W. Sample, president of the county temperance organization, presided. V. A. Schreiber, Canton district superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league and former mayor of East Liverpool, also spoke briefly. Music was in charge of a male quartet and by Rev. C. R. Loney, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city.

While his visit to East Liverpool was in the interests of his campaign, Taber's address here was of a non-political nature. His subject was "Good Citizenship."

"The cost of government in the United States today has outrun the ability of the taxpayers to meet the expense of administration," said Taber. "Government has never been recognized in the nation. It has simply just grown, bureau being added to bureau and department to department."

Turning to tomorrow's election Taber declared that "the source of good government is in the primary election and that it is the business of the Christian citizenship to participate in it."

"The citizen who is too busy with problems of the farm, office and the home to register idealism on this day is too busy to be a Christian citizen," he said.

On prohibition he declared:

"I deny the right of any person to drag into the constitution of this country the discarded philosophy of state's rights to constitutional problems. There is something more to liberty stability and opportunity which thus are put to a challenge. I propose to consider the constitution the rock of Gibraltar of this country's liberty and destiny. The constitution is a growing thing; it has filled destiny as no other government doctrine in history. A short cut out of it or its nullification is but the beginning of the end of the constitution."

Immediately following his address here, Taber left for Steubenville where he spoke Sunday night. He will close his campaign in Barnesville tonight.

MERCY URGED FOR KNISELY

Former Chester Man Will Get Life Sentence.

from a jovial, successful business man to a depressed, moody and self-pitying person imagining that the world was "down on him."

Prosecutor Scores Defendant.

He did not take the witness stand in his own defense and was scored by Prosecutor G. H. Birrell for failing to do so.

In his closing argument, the prosecutor pointed dramatically at Knisely and said, "Arch Knisely, you deliberately killed your wife and you'd take your punishment for it like a man. Your attorneys were afraid to put you on the witness stand for fear you would blurt out the whole story and gain yourself certain death in the electric chair. You know you would prefer to be with your wife now."

Tried to Kill Self.

Knisely had tried to kill himself after the murder. He slashed his wrists, tried to cut his throat, searched for a loaded revolver and later expressed regret that he could not get one.

Three years ago, he was head of his own lumber company in Warren and successful. After the slaying he did not have money enough to buy gasoline for an extensive flight. He drove into West Virginia, abandoned his car and four days after the murder walked all night along muddy roads to the home of a friend in Wheeling, where he rapped on the door at daybreak and asked the friend to telephone for the Trumbull sheriff to come after him.

The jury today took three ballots on the sanity problem. One man and one woman held out for insanity through two ballots, it was reported. Only two ballots were taken on the degree of the crime. The first was 11 to 1 for first-degree murder with mercy. The second brought the agreement.

yields hundreds of millions a year. Tobacco is used more generally than any other product except sugar and wheat. Does anybody really feel the tobacco sales tax, or resent it? Is there any uprising against it? Do smoke experts even know it exists, as they make their careful throat tests, blindfolded tests, toasted tests, and all the rest of it.

And, the tobacco sales tax, remember, is far heavier in percentage than any proposed sales tax.

One unnecessary, cruel and dangerous tax proposed would apply to even the cheapest theater tickets. At first it was planned to tax tickets costing 50 cents or more That would have benefited the public, perhaps, by putting a premium on low prices. The bill is changed now to tax all tickets costing more than 10 cents.

This actually threatens the moving picture industry, one of our greatest, carrying American competition successfully all over the world. Recent conditions, reducing many of the great picture companies almost to bankruptcy, make it clear that harsh taxation cripples, irretrievably, an industry that would be encouraged, because it means pleasure and happiness. Happiness is no luxury to be carelessly taxed.

DR. NITOBE, distinguished Japanese statesmen, has come to see us, although he vowed eight years ago, that he would never come because of our prejudice against the Japanese.

There is no prejudice here against Japan or her citizens, Dr. Nitobe, except among the ignorant, which is unimportant. Intelligent Americans recognize and admire Japan's great qualities, her courage in war, her greater victories in science, her high standing in all achievements worth while.

Our exclusion policy, applying to all of Asia, is based on recognition of our inability to compete with many Asiatics, in the struggle for existence. Japan has not yet recognized such a condition as existing between herself and China. Yet, Japan has no prejudice against China, no contempt for China's able people.

FUGATE BREAKS OWN RECORD AT GENEVA

County Schools Rank High

East Palestine Wins Class C Honors With 22 Points.

By ROBERT ELLIOTT,
Sports Editor, The Review.

BOB FUGATE, fleet distance man of the East Liverpool high school track team, cracked his own record for the mile run when he raced over the track in four minutes and 38.8 seconds at the fourth annual Geneva interscholastic track and field meet held Saturday in Beaver Falls. Jimmy Turner became the only other Potter to break into the scoring when he tied with Hasley of Poland for fourth in the pole vault.

Columbiana county schools fared exceedingly well in the meet, East Palestine winning Class C honors with 22 points, while Wellsville was third in the same division with 10. Leetonia, Columbiana and Lisbon also broke into the point-getting.

Sweetzer Stars.

East Palestine won two firsts, one second, three thirds, a fourth and fifth in winning class C honors. Wellsville won one event—the 440-yard relay—setting a new record of 47.8 seconds, and took one second, a third and three fourths.

Sweitzer of East Palestine won the 100-yard dash in 10.4 seconds and finished third in the 220 to take down class C individual scoring honors with eight points. Reidy of the Brown and White won the 880-yard run in two minutes nine and two-fifth seconds. The East Palestine mile relay team finished second, while Ealy was third in the 440 and Van Fossan third in the broad jump. Morgan was fourth in the 100-yard dash, and Fullerton fifth in the high jump.

Rawlings of Wellsville was second in the 100-yard dash, the Bengals finishing third in the shuttle relay, and Lloyd got a fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles, Morrison was fourth in the mile run and Floto fourth in the 440.

Blackburn Shines.

Dean Blackburn, Lisbon's great all-around athlete, won the pole vault with a fine mark of 11 feet, 3 and a half inches. He also got a tie for third in the high jump. Finney of Lisbon was fifth in the broad jump.

Patterson of Leetonia captured the discus with a dandy heave of 112 feet, four inches and Zack was fourth in the same event. The Leetonia medley relay was done by Mather, Dxerler and Weaver. The first-named got a third in the 100-yard dash, Weaver tied for third in the high jump and Drexler was fifth in the 100.

Unprecedented turf honors came to the Idle Hour stables of Col. E. R. Bradley when his Burgoo King won the Kentucky Derby by five lengths, giving Bradley his third Derby winner within a dozen years. Here's the winner—No. 13—getting his wreath after the race, with Jockey Eugene James up.

Midland Semi-Pros Downed By Ambridge Combine, 6-5

The Caul's club of Ambridge won the opening baseball game of the season in Midland Sunday by downing the Steel City Semi-Pros 6 to 5 at the Twelfth street park. Midland had a five-run lead at the end of the fourth inning, which was tied in the fifth frame from a steady barrage of hits off Bill Reich, Semi-Pro twirler, and the winning run came in the ninth from Ondrick's pitching.

Reich allowed six safe hits in the fifth inning, while Vance's error in left field and the failure to work a double play aided the Caul's team.

Jarasko, Ambridge third baseman was brought in from first base for the winning run by Mordas, catcher, on a long drive to the center field fence Mordas was thrown out at home, trying for a home run on the hit.

Carter scored Midland's first run when Benedict doubled in the second frame. Petrosky trippled to center field and was brought in by Andrews' single, who in turn scored on Green's three-bagger to the left field fence in the third inning. Benedict and Vance scored in the fourth from Reich's hard hit past the pitcher.

Petrosky, Reich and Onrick pitched three innings each for Midland and Semonak pitched four and Zwatty five innings for Caul's.

Loughran In Second Comeback

Tommy Tackles Steve Hamas at Philly Wednesday.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 9.—For the second time in three years Tommy Loughran is about to hit the comeback trail he hopes will lead him once more into boxing's "big money".

The popular Philadelphia veteran tackles the deadly punching Steve Hamas of Passaic, N. J., in a 10-rounder at Philadelphia Wednesday night.

It was Hamas, incidentally, who sent Tommy into his most recent retirement. After Loughran absorbed a terrific lacing from King Levinsky in Madison Square Garden in December, he was sent in against Hamas in January. Hamas knocked him out in the second round.

Heavyweights top the program in other fight centers this week. Ernie Schaff, Boston contender, meets the Philadelphia southpaw, Jack Gross, in the Garden Friday night; Mickey Walker, Simson, N. J. battler, tackles old Johnny Risko of Cleveland, in a 12-rounder at Cleveland Tuesday; and Charey Retzlaff, or Duluth, and Jimmy Braddock of Jersey City tangle at Boston Friday.

In the far west, Lee Rabage, of San Diego who recently stopped Hamis' sensational winning streak, meet Yale Okun of New York at Los Angeles Tuesday, while Max Baer, Livermore heavyweight, faces Walter Cobb of Baltimore at Oakland, Calif., the following night.

13-JINX DOWNED BY BELL'S A. C.

Bell's A. C. softball team recorded a 12-9 victory over the 13-Jinx of Midland for their fifth consecutive victory Friday. The Jinx scored five runs in the first inning but the Bell's came back to gather six in the second frame. The summary:

LON WARNEKE

In the early stages of the campaign which saw the Cubs go to the top of the league, the 23-year-old right-hander turned in three straight victories.

The Cubs bought Warneke as a raw recruit from Shreveport and slipped him into an occasional game last year. He wound up the season with a record of two won and four lost.

Warneke is a big fellow with a lot of power. He is six feet one and one-half inches tall and weighs 180 pounds. His home town is Mount Ida, Ark.

In order to prevent members of the underworld from tuning in on the police broadcasts, Eichelberger said that codes may be used to transmit police messages over the station.

Bradley Entrant Favored

Eastern Horses Seek Revenge Saturday At Pimlico.

By ALAN GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, May 9. — Monarch of the three-year-olds today, Burgoo King will lose no time defending the thoroughbred crown won in a sensational victory in the Kentucky Derby.

The champion of the famous racing establishment of Colonel Edward Riley Bradley of Lexington, Ky., probably will go to the post Saturday in the Preakness at Pimlico, Md., against most of the eastern colts beaten so soundly Saturday by the son of Bubbling Over.

Two Records Smashed.

Thus the tide of three-year-old battle is reversed with a western champion coming east to seek further conquests, where in the past two years Gallant Fox and Twenty Grand moved victoriously from east to west and back again.

Two records were smashed and a third equalled by Burgoo King's triumph in the 58th running of the derby, which carried a gross value of $62,875 and added $52,350 in the Bradley coffers.

It marked Colonel Bradley's third victory, thereby breaking the deadlock he shared with three other owners. Likewise it gave his trainer, H. J. (Dick) Thompson, the distinction of saddling a third winner for another record. Bradley entries ran one-two- in 1921, with Behave Yourself-Black Servant and again in 1926 with Bubbling Over-Bagenbaggage.

Having proved the best of the lot at Churchill Downs, Burgoo King will go to the post a favorite in the Preakness, but it may prove another wide-open race.

Sande Up on Mad Pursuit.

The five eastern colts that trailed the Bradley star in order—Economic, Stepenfetchit, Brandon Mint, Over-Time and Tick-On may benefit from betting racing luck or the shorter distance, one mile and three-sixteenths. Tick On, the derby favorite, may redeem himself for the bad behavior that ruined his chances at the barrier Saturday.

Earl Sande, the popular New York rider who piloted Over-Time in a vain attempt to capture his fourth derby, will be up on Mad Pursuit in the Preakness.

PRESIDENT FIRM ON PROHIBITION

COLUMBUS, O., May 9—Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, chairman of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement, feels no fears about President Hoover joining the anti-prohibitionists.

Here on a tour, Mrs. Peabody cited passages from 12 talks by the president in which, she said, he clearly stated his stand on prohibition and definitely reiterated his support of the 18th amendment.

COURT JUDGE MATCHMAKER

CLEVELAND, O., May 9.—As a matchmaker, Police Court Judge Alfred L. Steur is stumped.

He argued for three hours recently before finally convincing Marion E. Moyer, 28, and his divorced wife that they should re-wed to be happy. They finally agreed.

Two days later, Moyer re-appeared in court, declaring his wife didn't wan him around and her family wouldn't let him. Furthermore, he said, he didn't want to re-marry in the first place.

Judge Steur said he didn't know just what to do.

Yesterday's STARS

Moe Berg, Senators—His single in the 14th inning drove in winning run against White Sox.

Burleigh Grimes, Cubs—Making first start of year, survived three-run attack in first inning and beat Dodgers, 12-5.

Luke Sewell, Indians—His four hits aided in defeat of Athletics.

Carl Hubbel, Giants — Stopped Cardinals with six hits to win 4-1.

Church League To Open

Six Games Booked For Tuesday Night.

The Sunday school softball league will swing into its second season tomorrow night with all 12 of the teams scheduled to see action. All of the teams have played several practice tilts during the last two weeks and some hard-fought tilts are looked forward to in the openers.

Meanwhile the East End loop swings into its second week this evening with two tilts listed. Riverview Greenhouses meet Green Grocers at Upper Columbian park and Heimie's Cigars tackle Benedum Drugs at Dixonville.

Greens are leading the East End organization with three consecutive victories; while Heimie's are tied with Tice Grocers for second place, having won two of three starts.

The games booked for tomorrow evening in the church loop:

First M. E. at Second Christians (Beechwood) umpire, Estelle.

Second U. P. at St. Stephen's (Patterson Foundry) umpire, Zech.

Lutherans at Second Presbyterians (West End) umpire, Davies.

Baptists at Anderson M. E. (Anderson Acres) umpire, McVay.

First Presbyterians at Penn Avenue (Middle Columbian) umpire, Hall.

First Christians at Boyce M. E. (Klondyke) umpire, Earl Smith.

President O. E. Greenawalt has called a meeting of all church league managers for tonight at 8 in the Y. M. C. A. It is important that all managers be present.

Weather Ruins Schedule of A. A.

Only Four Games Played Over Week-end in League.

CHICAGO, May 9.—The traveling delegations of the American Association today moved on to new scenery, hoping the shifts might also bring a change in the weather.

The last week-end proved a grand bust from a box office point of view. Attendance figures were shy not because the fans were unwilling to watch the teams—the fault was with the weather.

Only four games were played Saturday and Sunday, and the number was four only because Kansas City and Milwaukee played a doubleheader. Milwaukee and Columbus played both days, but the rest of the clubs were kept from their chores because of rain and wet grounds.

Yesterday's doubleheader, the Toledo Mud-Hens won the first game, 6 to 4, and even though Kansas City came back with a 17-hit attack and a 13 to 4 victory, the net result was to drop the Blues two percentage points behind the idle Indianapolis club.

Columbus finally cracked Milwaukee's winning streak at six straight when Fred Stiely blew up in the seventh inning. Stieley had not given Columbus a hit and the Brewers were leading by a 2 to 0 as they went into the seventh. By the time Stiley had been replaced by Braxton, the Red Birds had scored five runs and finally wound up with a 6 to 2 victory.

Wes Ferrell in Van As Leading Hurler

With his old rival, Lefty Grove of the Athletics, finding it hard to get started, Wes Farrell, of the Cleveland Indians appears headed for the title of the best pitcher in the American league for 1932.

WES FERRELL

The big right-handed ace of the Indians won his first five starts. In doing so he finished every game he started—something of a record in early season when pitchers find it difficult to get warmed up.

Last year Ferrell's feat of winning 22 and losing 12 with a fourth place club was obscured by Grove's remarkable record of 31 victories against only four defeats. Ferrell already this year has fortified himself to give the great left hander a great tussle all the way down the line.

Grimes Wins For Chicago

Cubs Strengthened by Return of Star Twirler.

BY HERBERT W. BARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Burleigh Grimes, whose name is synonymous with baseball courage is back in harness again and the Chicago Cubs, though enough without him, are just that much more formidable.

An attack of influenza laid low the veteran right hander just as the 1932 campaign opened but he came back yesterday to survive a three-run attack by the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first inning and finally beat them, 12-5.

This victory stretched Chicago's advantage in the National league to three full games as the Boston Braves lost their fourth straight to the Cincinnati Reds, 6-5.

The New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals split a double bill. The Giants won the opener, 4-1, as Carl Hubbell allowed only six hits, and the Cardinals the nightcap 6-5, as the eccentric Dizzy Dean went the route for the champions.

The Washington Senators maintained their lead in the American league race by nosing out the Chicago White Sox, 6-5, in 14 innings. Moe Berg's single drove home the winning run much to the annoyance of Ted Lyons who traveled the full route for the White Sox.

Cleveland walloped the Philadelphia Athletics again, 8-5, and the Boston Red Sox broke an eight game losing streak at the St. Louis Browns' expense, 7-5.

McLaughlin Drugs won both ends of a double-header Sunday on Northside from the Purity Milks. The contests were cleanly played, the first ending 1-0 and the second 3-2. L. Stroble hit a double with the sacks clogged while pinch-hitting in the eighth inning of the second game. The summaries:

McLaughlins	1	4	3
Purity Milks	0	3	3

Stroble and Welsh; Brookes and Mackey.

McLaughlins	3	7	3
Purity Milks	2	6	4

Seevers, Welsh and Weston; Pennebaker and Mackey.

TRAVERS CARDS 80 IN MATCH

By The Associated Press.

RIDGEWOOD, N. J., May 9. — His first test as a "business man golfer" has convinced Jerome D. Travers there's no reason why he shouldn't soon be playing as well as he ever did.

He shot no better than an 80 on a par 71 course here yesterday in an exhibition foursome in which he and Bill Reekie of Upper Montclair defeated Max Kaesche and Ernest F. Thomas of the Ridgewood Country club, 6 and 4, but the former national amateur and open champion was by no means discouraged.

SPORTSMEN TO MEET TONIGHT

Sportsmen from various points in the county will gather at Lake Placentia tonight at 8 for the monthly meeting of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association. Speeches by well-known sportsmen are on the program. J. S. Lambing, Wellsville, president of the association, will be in charge.

A large crowd is expected to turn out for the meeting.

MERCHANTS WIN PAIR.

The East Liverpool Merchants downed Heimie's Cigars in a double header at Sherwood Sunday. The scores were 4-2 and 5-2.

Midland Trackmen Second in Pitt Classic With 13 Counters

New Castle Edges Out Steel City Cinder Artists by One Point; Ordich and McCombs Win Hurdles, Mile Run.

Midland high school's track team, competing for the first time this season against scholastic competition, pulled a sensational upset Saturday to finish second in the 25th annual University of Pittsburgh Scholastics. The Steel Citians were edged out by New Castle, who tallied 14 points to Midland's 13.

Coach W. A. Wuschinski's thin clads captured two first places and a second, and only missed out tying New Castle when David Jakes failed to qualify for the finals of 220-yard dash. Matt Ordich, star halfback of the Steel City football team last year, captured the 220-yard low hurdles in 27 seconds.

Bill McCombs won the mile run in four minutes and 40 seconds. Jakes finished second in the 440-yard dash for the remaining Midland points. Smith of Connellsville won the event in 53.2 seconds.

Jakes had previously won his heat in the 220-yard dash in 24.5 seconds but failed to qualify in the semi-finals of the event. Had he succeeded in finishing fourth Midland would have tied New Castle for top honors.

Two records were beaten in the meet, Murphy of Butler sending the javelin 184 feet, 10.5 inches, and Thompson of Sharon broad jumping 22 feet, two inches.

Sharon finished right behind Midland with 12 counters, followed by Linsly of Wheeling with 11 and three-quarters.

Potters, Bengals in Dual Meet Tuesday

Coach Wade Carpenter of Wellsville announced today that the Bengal track team would meet Leland Schachern's Potters in an inter-city field and track meet at Patterson field here Tuesday at 4 p. m. The meet was arranged when the rival coaches got together at the Geneva Interscholastics Saturday.

BONJOUR TELLS OF MAJESTIC REFRIGERATOR

30 FEATURES REVEALED BY CHESTER MAN

Many Points of Interest Announced by Dealer.

E. S. Bonjour, manager of the Bonjour Hardware company, Chester, has given some interesting facts regarding the Majestic refrigerator for which he has an agency in this territory. Any one considering the purchase of any refrigerator will find the following of exceptional interest:

"The Majestic refrigerator has passed the most rigid tests of the greatest authority on household equipment in America. It won the Good Housekeeping seal of approval! At the famous Good Housekeeping institute, the Majestic refrigerator has been tried and proved—in the special "summer time" laboratories, engineers tested its power—made sure it would keep food safe on the warmest days. They charted its current consumption to prove its economy. Subjected it to the equivalent of months of hard home usage, then checked its construction to be sure it would stand hard wear.

Designed By Housewives.

"In the Good Housekeeping kitchen, expert cooks tried out the Majestic's freezing capacity—timed it on ice cubes—tested it with frozen desserts—timed it regularly for temperature—and, with the institute housekeeper ever watchful the Majestic had to prove its worth in actual use.

"Ten thousand housewives have been asked what they wanted in a refrigerator. They were interviewed personally in their own homes. They discussed their refrigeration problems—explained what an ideal refrigerator should be and do. And so, the housekeepers of America really designed the new Majestic refrigerator.

"Inside and outside the Majestic refrigerator you will find that nothing has been spared to give the finest quality possible — to insure satisfaction for a life-time.

"Everything is concealed, no coils to catch dust, no belts or gears, no pointed knobs inside—all rounded corners. Look over the 30 distinctive features of this modern refrigerator, built to your specifications."

Mr. Bonjour will gladly point out the 30 special features of this refrigerator, that was designed to satisfy the requirements of those that use, the "woman of the home."

Owner of Golden Star Dairy Stresses Sanitation in Plant

Eiferd Firm is Likened to Hospital's Operating Room Because of Its Cleanliness; All Machinery is Sterilized.

Startling as it may seem, there is an obvious comparison between a hospital operating room and the plant of the Golden Star Dairy.

The basis of this comparison is strikingly apparent in the emphasis placed on sanitation. This is a vital factor in the operations conducted by both of these organizations. Both must guard against the ever-present bacteria that wages such relentless warfare on human life.

Only the most stringent sanitation methods can successfully combat hese germs. That the Golden Star Dairy has followed such methods for years is clearly reflected in the clean superior quality of its products.

Another easily recognized similiarity is that splendid germ destroying agency sterilization. Every piece of machinery or equipment that comes in contact with milk is thoroughly sterilized with live steam, perhaps the most certain germ-destroyer known. Every container is made from rust or corrode proof metals, and all have covers that fit so snugly that dust cannot enter. The germs certainly do not stand much of a show when confronted with such precautionary measures.

Eiferd is Leader.

Turning to raw milk, it is found that still another comparing factor is present. Every instrument, every sponge each piece of gauze and bandage used in hospitals are as clean and perfect as man can devise. Likewise is this true with the Golden Star Dairy. John Eiferd, the owner, has been a leader in this vicinity in seeing that laws were passed that made it necessary that herds of cows be given the tubercular test before the milk could be offered for sale.

He has also been active in helping the farmer realize his responsibility to the hundreds that finally consume his products.

A summary of these facts completes a chain of processes whereby consumers can readily see what exists behind the milk they receive each day. Clean milk in clean bottels, sealed with clean, sanitary caps results in healthy homes and satisfied customers.

The Golden Star Dairy is located a few miles in the country, where the air is pure and free from the smoke and other treacherous particles that fill the air of a more populated center. Considering all of these points isn't it of real interest to you. Should you wish to investigate the Golden Star's service phone 3200.

CARS UNDERGO BIG CHANGE IN RECENT YEARS

Fife-Travis Equipped To Take Care of Shift, However.

During recent years there has been a vast change in motor cars, not only in the way they are constructed, but in the way they are driven. In the first place, the high speed motor is evidently here to stay. The use of lighter reciprocating parts has made it possible to cut down on the size and weight of automobile engines, design them to turn up faster, give greater power and flexibility.

The great surge of power that is available with the slightest touch of the accelerator in the modern car appeals to the sporting instinct of the average motorist and satisfied his or her craving for speed—and plenty of it. Everywhere cars are being driven much faster than they were a few years ago.

This change has made proper care of the car even more important than ever. When parts become badly worn, they should be replaced or reconditioned before they break with disastrous results. After a car is driven for a long period and a considerable amount of mileage has been "rolled up," it is very likely that the cylinders have become badly worn and out of line, and in high speed motors in cars that are driven at the lively clip of today, this condition shortens the life of the motor materially if neglected. The result is loss of power, vibration, oil pumping and dilution, decreased gas mileage and higher operating costs.

The Fife-Travis Service garage at 104 Rural lane has special equipment for renewing the cylinder walls of any car. Machinery is used for reboring the cylinders with great accuracy so that they are perfectly round, and square with the crankshaft. The cylinders then are polished to a mirror finish, a job that is equal to the work that is done at the factory.

In addition the process provides for re-aligning bent and twisted connecting rods so that the wrist pins are parallel with the crankshaft, allowing the pistons to slide up and down freely without binding. This brings a new smoothness of operation, greater power and economy that is a revelation to car owners, Mr. Fife says.

If you would like to have the motor in your car renewed, drive around to the Fife-Travis Service garage and talk with Mr. Fife.

BLIMP TO PAY WOOSTER VISIT

By The United Press.

WOOSTER, O., May 9.—A blimp of the Goodyear fleet will drop anchor on the campus of Wooster college on May 14 when the historical pageant, commemorating the 12th anniversary of the founding of the college, is brought to a close.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover will be among the hundreds of expected witnesses who will watch the little blimp settle to a landing and then glide away to Akron where the letters will be returned here by train. It will be the first time in history that a blimp has been dispatched to carry mail for such a function.

DRIVER SHOULD PROTECT SELF, ARNOLD SAYS

Education 95 Per Cent Of Traffic Safety, He Declares.

Automobiles are not ferocious. In connection with the automobile it is man who is to be feared. If a state, in the exercise of its governmental function, is to attempt to direct man's participation in traffic, then in all fairness a part of a determination of fitness must be based on a study of this human or character angle to ascertain so far as possible whether he is "ferocious" or not.

Certainly it might help if in the exercise of its administrative powers the state felt qualified to suggest that confidence, courtesy and kindness in a proper degree are necessary attributes to successful operation of an automobile, that there are other people on the highway who need to be considered, that emergencies will arise which must be met, and that continual conservative performance alone is the course of conduct which will eventually make the driver safe and sound. That conservatism must become a habit before the driver is safe for himself or others.

Any means which can be legitimately used under the sponsorship of the state or any assistance which can be obtained from outside agencies, if properly regulated, would seem to be justified if it does nothing more than periodically attract the attention of motorists to those factors which may be potential accident hazards or may become contributory causes to accidents.

Education Big Problem.

Traffic safety is 95 percent education and five percent enforcement. Our biggest problem is in the education of automobile owners and drivers. When they can be reached enmasse, the complexities of the problem are proportionately reduced, and when we are able to sell the idea of safety to a sufficiently large percentage of motorists, then we will begin to notice an appreciable decrease in motor traffic accidents.

C. W. Arnold, proprietor of the Wellsville Insurance company bearing his name, believes further that until this condition does become a reality, at least to a much greater extent than the statistics now show, it is the duty of every motorist to not only protect the other fellow but himself. There are so many cases where a driver has lost everything he had saved that it seems foolish not to be protected.

It is certaintly a big gamble for regardless of how careful you are the other car or pederstrian has to be reckoned with. A phone call to Wellsville 50-J will connect you with Mr. Arnold and you will find he can give you some very interesting figures on how to protect yourself. If taken advantage of, arrangements can be made to finance the small costs at no extra expense.

Forty-nine thousand school buses, it is estimated, are in use carrying pupils to rural schools in the United States.

AUTO CRASHES SHOW INCREASE

By The United Press.

CLEVELAND, O., May 9—With the coming of spring weather, automobile accidents have already begun to increase in Cleveland.

Traffic accidents in April claimed lives of 16 Clevelanders as compared with 17 in March, according to police. However, there were 60 serious accidents in April compared with 47 in March. Slight accidents showed an increase of 22.

THREE SCHOOLS TO BROADCAST

Miami, Bowling Green, Kent to go "On Air."

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., May 9—Three other Ohio colleges are to present programs this month over WEAO, the Ohio State university radio station.

The programs will be broadcast each Friday evening beginning May 13. The colleges are Miami university, Bowling Green State college and Kent State college.

On the Bowling Green hour, President H. B. Williams, and Deans Clyde Hissong and J. R. Overman will be the speakers. They will discuss "Bowling Green State college, a Unit of the State System of Higher Education." There also will be music by Bowling Green students.

Miami will sponsor a program May 20, with President A. H. Upham describing Miami's place in the state educational system. The Miami Glee club will furnish music.

The Kent program on May 27 will be featured by music by 12 students chosen from the girls' glee club and by a string quartet, and talks by President J. O. Engleman, C. W. Seiberling, of Akron, president of the board of trustees, and Dr. C. F. Rumold, head of the department of chemistry.

SEEKS DAMAGES IN AUTO CRASH

Beaver Falls Woman Defendant in $75,000 Suit Filed by Two East Liverpool Persons.

Damage suits totaling $75,000 have been filed in court at Beaver, Pa., against Mrs. Ethel M. Stone, wife of A. Clyde Stone of Beaver Falls, by two East Liverpool persons in connection with the death of Charles Eoff in an automobile accident on the East Liverpool-Wellsville road.

Mrs. Hattie Eoff, mother of Charles Eoff, claims $50,000. Her claim says that Eoff died from injuries sustained when his car collided with a truck owned by Mrs. Stone and operated by Donald Carr. Wilbert Taylor of East Liverpool, a passenger in the Eoff car, seeks $25,000.

BIG BOY TAX BILL ON MARK

Party Chiefs Also Push Economy Measure.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The big boy tax bill was put on the mark for a sprint toward enactment today, while party chieftains determined anew to supplement its dwarfed running mate—the economy bill.

After refusing 12 to 6 to reopen the rate section of the $1,010,000,000 revenue measure, the senate finance committee formally reported it, and bi-partisan determination to press it through is evident.

Meanwhile, the senate appropriations committee went to work on the vital supply and economy bills, determined to bring about savings of more than $200,000,000 which are necessary to make the new tax bill balance the 1933 budget.

Over in the house, the economy committee which had its omnibus bill shattered, was called to meet this afternoon on plans for other moves to cut government costs.

And far up Pennsylvania avenue, President Hoover worked steadily in a continued effort to rally support in the Republican-controlled senate jointly for the compromise tax bill and a $237,000,000 money-saving program.

38 ARE BURIED IN LANDSLIDES

Two Apartment Houses at Lyons, France, are Crushed by Masses Of Moving Earth.

By The Associated Press.

LYONS, France, May 9.—Thirty-eight persons were believed buried today under landslides which swallowed up two apartment houses.

Twelve injured were removed before rescuers were ordered away by Edward Herriot, the mayor and former premier, who himself escaped death from another slide only by leaping to safety.

Explosions and fires preceded the slides. The first occurred at 9 a. m., while many of the residents were asleep. It cracked the gas mains. The fire department removed the first twelve persons before the second and larger slide tumbled down, crushing both buildings.

About 100 persons were killed in a similar landslide in Fourviere Hill here in November, 1930. The slide today was blamed on heavy rains and melting snows which undermined the subsoil in the hills.

SHIPPINGPORT BARN DESTROYED

Building Owned By Duquesne Light Company, Hit by Fire; Loss $4,000.

Fire of undetermined origin Saturday midnight destroyed a barn at Shippingport, Pa., owned by the Duquesne Light company of Pittsburgh, causing a loss of $4,000. Homer M. Scott, living on the farm, owned the implements, hay, feed and spring seeds stored in the barn.

Scott said all the live stock was in the fields when the blaze started.

QUARREL ENDS FATALLY.

TROY, O., May 9.—A quarrel over a small gambling debt reputedly led to the fatal stabbing of William F. Fuller, 42, Troy contractor. Harris Frazier, 43, was held in county jail charged with the slaying.

MADRIGAL CLUB WINS CONTEST

East Liverpool Chorus Awarded Prize at Warren.

The Madrigal Club of 40 women, directed by Miss Mildred Weaver, won the first prize in the women's chorus competition at the second annual Trumbull County eisteddfod, at Warren, Saturday. The chorus received a prize of $100 while the director was awarded a gold medal. Three other choruses competed.

Neither the Apollo Male chorus nor the mixed chorus composed of the Madrigal club and the Apollo group, directed by W. A. MacDonald of Pittsburgh placed in the contest. The mixed chorus captured the $500 cash prize at the Warren event a year ago.

The Madrigal club sang two numbers "The Summer," by Gwent and "Lieberstraumme" by Frantz-Liszt. Mrs. Jessie Hall Kaufman, accompanist, was also given a favorable mention by the adjudicator, Prof. L. P. Evans of Atlantic City, N. J.

The Blue Flash chorus of Cleveland won the male chorus contest, although the judges were forced to ask for additional time to reach their decision so close was the competition with the Apollo group. A Warren chorus won the $500 prize for the mixed group.

Chorus groups from Cleveland, Akron, Steubenville, Pittsburgh, and Braddock also took part in the event.

FLYNN'S VISIT HERE ON MAY 16

Wage Earner's Secretary Explains Notice in Telephone Call to Brotherhood President.

The appearance here of Michael Flynn of Washington, executive secretary of the American Wage Earners' Protective league, announced for tonight, was today postponed until next Monday night.

Flynn on Saturday advised James M. Duffy, president of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, that he would visit East Liverpool "next Monday." In a telephone communication to Duffy on Sunday Flynn explained that the date was intended to be for Monday of next week, May 16. He will discuss the tariff situation as it applies to the pottery industry. The meeting, which will be held in the Potters' hall, will be open to the general public.

DRY VOTE ASKED BY WICKERSHAM

WASHINGTON, May 9.—George W. Wickersham believes more strongly than ever that a referendum on prohibition is needed.

Sixteen months after winding up the work of the notable crime-study commission which bore his name, Wickersham expressed the conviction yesterday that a vote on altering the 18th amendment through state conventions would do much good by crystallizing what he termed the "sober, informed and deliberate opinion of the people."

REVOLT IN PERU IS SHORT-LIVED

By The Associated Press.

LIMA, Peru, May 9.—The Peruvian navy lost a short-lived communist revolution yesterday, being subdued by four shots from a submarine's guns.

The communists seized the only two curisers in the navy and for a while the situation seemed so serious that a state of siege was declared.

MASSIES QUIT HONOLULU WITH TEARS, ANGER

Police are Balked in Attempt to Serve Subpoena

By WILLIAM H. EWING,
Associated Press Writer.

HONOLULU, May 9.—Mrs. Thalia Massie and others who became enmeshed in Honolulu's episode of tragedy and crime, have left Hawaii with tumult, tears and anger marking their departure.

With Honolulu police seeking to serve her with a subpoena, Mrs. Massie, her husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and her mother, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, were put aboard the liner Malolo Sunday by a naval submarine tender and with the aid of a high naval officer who held police at bay.

The police had sought to serve Mrs. Massie with a formal summons to appear at the scheduled retrial of the four men accused of attacking her last September. She was unwilling to proceed with the case in view of the outcome of its sequel, that in which Mrs. Fortescue, Massie and E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, navy enlisted men, were convicted of the lynching of Joseph Kahahawai.

The attack led to the abduction and slaying of Kahahawai. On the stand Massie testified he fired the fatal shot after the native had confessed taking part in the assault. Mrs. Forescue and the three navy men were convicted of manslaughter but went free when their sentences were commuted by Governor Lawrence M. Judd.

This departure of the principals and their attorneys, Clarence Darrow and George S. Leisure, was perhaps the strangest ever witnessed on Honolulu's waterfront, with its inevitable "Aloha" ceremony for every passenger ship.

The piers were crowded, reports of the police hunt for Mrs. Massie since yesterday having heightened the already intense public interest. The Royal Hawaiian band was playing on the pier.

Almost unnoticed, the navy submarine tender edged up beside the big liner. Mrs. Fortescue appeared on its deck. Then came bluejackets with Lieutenant Massie's dog "Chris" and an assortment of baggage. Lieut. and Mrs. Massie then emerged, accompanied by Captain Ward K. Wortman, commander of the submarine base, to which Massie had been attached.

The party stepped into a cargo port of the Malolo. Subpoena in hand, Dewey Mookini, a Honolulu policeman stood there waiting for Mrs. Massie.

Captain Wortman lowered his heavy shoulders and collided with Mookini while Mrs. Massie darted up a corridor to her stateroom.

Angry Words Exchanged.

"I shall report you to your superior officer," Wortman stormed.

"You assaulted me!" shouted the policeman.

Wortman panting, thrust Mookini against a wall while Mrs. Massie got into her stateroom and Mrs. Fortescue followed. Mookini wiggled away, pushed the door open and tried to read it to Mrs. Massie. The door slammed shut in his face.

There was an engry exchange of words between Captain Wortman and the policeman. Massie approached them, extending his hand to Mookini.

"No hard feelings here," said Massie. "I know what your duty is."

Captain Wortman then extended his hand to the policeman and they also made up.

As the moment for sailing neared, Massie knocked at the stateroom door and Mrs. Massie appeared. Her eyes were wet with tears.

"You won't try to go in again?" Massie pleaded, turning to the policeman. They assured him they would not.

No member of the Fortescue-Massie party cast his lei into the harbor as the Malolo headed out for San Francisco. There is an old belief that if a departing visitor casts his lei into the waters he will come back. Mrs. Fortescue, Mr. and Mrs. Leisure, Mrs. Helen Ripley, sister of Mrs. Fortescue; Robert Bell, their brother, and Lieut. L. H. C. Johnson, a lawyer who represented the navy in the defense of the lynching case, were at the rail as the ship left the dock. Darrow and the Massies were nowhere in sight.

Their sailing left none of the lynching case principals in Honolulu, Jones and Lord, the enlisted men, having sailed yesterday on San Francisco-bound destroyers.

Mrs. Massie's departure was generally interpreted as putting an end to the attack case retrial.

Public Prosecutor John C. Kelley, at whose instance the strenuous efforts were made to serve the subpoena, seemed bitter at her departure.

"Have you ever made a study of masks?" asked Kelley after the ship had sailed. "The artist Benda depicts them cleverly and grotesquely. I wish he were here. I would set up one for Thalia Massie and proceed with the retrial."

Kelley declined to amplify the statement but it was generally believed that he would not proceed further against the four remaining men, Horace Ida, David Takia, Ben Ahakeulo and Henry Chang.

WHITE TO GET 46 DELEGATES

"Presidential Timber" Involved in Ohio's Primary Election.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., May 9.—Seven presidential candidates and two other men not seeking the office but mentioned as "presidential timber" will be involved in Ohio's primary election tomorrow.

On the Republican ticket President Hoover is assured 51 of the state's 55 delegates. His only primary opposition will come from four delegates pledged to former Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland.

Senator France also will compete for the somewhat empty honors of the state's presidential preferential vote, along with "General" Jacob S. Coxey, mayor of Massillon, and Olin J. Ross, Columbus attorney.

On the Democratic ticket, Gov. George White is assured 46 of the state's 52 delegates, with primary opposition only from six Cleveland delegates, pledged to Petter Witt, but who are promised to support former Governor Al Smith of New York.

Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma will be unopposed for the Democratic preferential vote.

Senator Bulkley Unopposed.

The two men "mentioned as presidential timber are U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley and former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker. Although neither is a presidential candidate, Senator Bulkley often has been named as a possible Democratic compromise candidate, while Baker is the unofficial alternate choice of Ohio's Democratic delegation should Gov. White fail to win outside support.

Senator Bulkley is unopposed for the Democratic senatorial nomination. Gov. White, in his additional candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination, has only moderate opposition from Galen Starr Ross, Columbus lecturer.

Although economic conditions, taxation and governmental economy have been prime subjects in the pre-primary campaigning, the prohibition problem has been set up to be one of the biggest factors in tomorrow's vote, particularly in the Republican races for governor and senator.

Eyes on Gubernatorial Fight.

David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics, waged his campaign for the Republican gubernatorial vote almost entirely on a platform against prohibition. Former Governor Myers Y. Cooper and Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, rivals of Ingalls, were classified as "dry." A fourth Republican candidate for the office is James C. B. Beatty, East Liverpool pottery salesman.

Louis J. Taber, national master of the grange, who is seeking the Republican senatorial nomination, will have the hearty support of all Ohio's dry organizations, though insisting the prohibition issue is of secondary importance.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, Taber's most dangerous opponent, favors prohibition repeal.

NINE ARE HURT OVER WEEK-END

Four Others Escape Injury in Auto Crashes.

Nine persons were injured, none seriously, while four others escaped unhurt in East Liverpool district automobile crashes and other accidents over the week-end.

The injured are:

Mrs. James C. Stone, of Ravine street and Bradshaw avenue, cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. James C. Stone Sr., of Ravine street and Bradshaw avenue, cuts and bruises to body.

Mrs. Anna Conkie of Clarkson, severe lacerations and bruises.

John Emmerling of Clarkson, cuts and bruises to body.

Mrs. Minnie E. Young, Miss Sarah Hanna and Mrs. A. C. Teaff all of Crafton, Pa., lacerations.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wood, 48, of 1247 Erie street, four arteries in right wrist lacerated.

Leonard Sherwood, 40, of 738 Riley avenue, lacerations to head.

Mrs. James C. Stone and her mother-in-law were injured when the automobile in which they were passengers was struck by another motorist and hurled over an embankment on the Lisbon-Elkton road near Elkton, Sunday afternoon. James C. Stone Jr., driver of the machine, was uninjured.

Mrs. Conkle and Emmerling were injured when the sedan in which they were riding was struck by a Nevin bus on the East Liverpool-Youngstown highway, five miles north of here, Saturday at 10 p. m. The accident occurred when W. S. Siekie of Pittsburgh, driver of a Detroit-Pittsburgh bus swerved around a parked automobile and crashed into the auto driven by Mrs. Conkle en route north.

Deputy Sheriffs George Hayes and William Virden of Lisbon, who investigated the accident said Oliver C. Lutton of Klondyke, East Liverpool, had parked his automobile without lights. The bus driver was exonerated. Both machines were damaged. Mrs. Young, Miss Hannah and Mrs. Teaff sustained minor injuries when the machine in which they were passengers, owned and driven by Mrs. Young, plunged over an eight-foot embankment and crashed into a telephone pole on the Lincoln highway, 7 miles north of here, Sunday night.

The trio, traveling west, were passing another automobile going in the same direction, when the accident happened. Deputies Hayes and Virden declared. Their injuries were dressed by a Lisbon physician.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wood suffered severe lacerations to her wrist when she is said to have been cut by broken glass in the sink at her home Saturday afternoon. She was attended by Dr. F. F. Davis at the City hospital and later removed to her home.

Sherwood struck his head on a railroad rail near the Horn Switch Sunday at 4 p. m., police said. He was taken to the City hospital by firemen from the Central station where his injuries were dressed by Dr. J. A. Fraser.

Edward Moran of 2604 Vestry street, Cleveland, and William Conley and his brother, of West End, a passenger, were unhurt when their automobiles collided in West Eighth and Lisbon streets, late Saturday night. Moran, en route south on Lisbon street, collided with the car driven by Conley, traveling west on West Eighth street, when the latter started to turn into the Wellsville road. Both machines were damaged.

'WE WANT BEER'

CHARLES L. SNYDER

Mr. Snyder, wet candidate for Congress, opposing Frank Murphy, has been endorsed as UNSATISFACTORY by the Anti-Saloon League and the W. C. T. U.

He is opposed to prohibition and favors modification of the Volstead Act and repeal of the 18th Amendment.

He is using in his campaign the slogan, "We Want Beer, Put a Million Men to Work."

Mr. Snyder favors immediate payment of the Soldiers' Bonus, new bank laws for protection of savings accounts, and revision of tariff laws to protect American industries and provide more jobs for American workingmen.

He states that the United States has been too long the dumping ground for European and Asiatic products.

"We're all Working Again . . . thanks to our phone"

An actual instance from our Dayton office, telling how a railroad brakeman and his son, a wire wheel lacer, and his daughter, who works in a radio store, got work because they kept their telephone.

Three months ago a Dayton man asked us to remove his home telephone. He had lost his job and his son and daughter also had lost theirs.

Our Business Office suggested they keep their telephone so that employers could reach them readily. Another daughter who was working realized the wisdom of this, and decided to pay for the telephone herself.

Several days ago she told us that as a result of keeping the telephone her father, brother and sister had obtained work. "We're all working again, thanks to our telephone," she said.
